OLD COLONY ASKS 40 PCT. FARE BOOST

STORY ON PAGE 2

Three R's Ahead—Reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic faced some 128,000 Boston public and parochial school students today when doors opened for the "happy" day. First timers, like Joey Demarco, 4½, outside the Paul Revere School in the North End (at right), had to be persuaded a little. Mrs. Corinne Cianci (above) gives last-minute inspection to daughters, Corrine, 6, and Eileen, 4, before they entered the North End school.

Old Colony Asks 40 Pct. Fare Hike

Hard on the heels of an Interstate Commerce Commission order authorizing a 15 to 25 per cent boost in fares for interstate train commuters, the New Haven Railroad today petitioned the State Department of Public Utilities for a general 40 per cent increase in all intrastate fares on its Old Colony lines. Specifically, the petition asks the increase for basic one-way coach passenger fares, 12-ride commutation tickets, 60-ride monthly commutation tickets and 46-ride students' commutation tickets. Charge for the latter, however, would be 50 per cent of the new 60-ride tickets.

Railroad trustees said the increase was requested to determine whether the line can obtain new revenue and relief from other sources sufficient to avoid the "critical" figure of the New Haven's reorganization plan for the Old Colony. It was another effort, they said, to avoid discontinuance of all Old Colony passenger service.

STILL SHORT OF FIGURE

Even the 40 per cent increase, the petition stated, would not supply sufficient revenue to avoid the "critical" figure, but authorization of the increase would enable the line to determine whether there is sufficient patronage to warrant applications for further increases.

Under the reorganization plan, passenger service on the line can be discontinued if losses chargeable to passenger operation exceed the critical figure of $850,000 for any 12 consecutive months in the first two years, or $500,000 for any 24 consecutive months thereafter.

The trustees estimated the net passenger deficit for 1947 at $2,171,000, far above the first critical figure.

Thus far, the ICC order has affected only commuters using the Boston & Maine to Nashua and Portsmouth, N. H., the Boston and Albany from Pittsfield to Albany, N. Y., and the New Haven between Boston and Providence.

The Boston & Maine and the Boston and Albany roads now have on file at the State House requests for higher commuter fares.

TUNNEL 'MISLAID'

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Los Angeles business man, Joseph Pass, has offered assistance to the city of Chicago which is spending $5000 to locate a "lost" tunnel under the Chicago river.

The tunnel, once used by the Commonwealth Edison Co. to carry conduit, was abandoned and sealed 30 years ago, but if it can be located from company records it would prove of money-saving usefulness in construction of Chicago's West Side subway.

Pass, sales executive of the Gregory Electric Co. here, said that 31 years ago he bought a Commonwealth Edison Power house for salvage and with it went 150,000 pounds of cable running through the tunnel.

12 State Weighers of Airport Gravel Dismissed from Jobs

State officials today ordered 12 state weighers at the Logan Airport development removed from their jobs as a result of the Attorney-General's probe of alleged frauds. In addition, Public Works Commissioner William H. Buracher has ordered Perini Brothers, master contractors, to install a second scale on the job and to double check every load of gravel and crushed stone.

No more "estimated" weights will be accepted, Buracher ordered.

The drastic action of the public works commissioner followed revelation by State Police probers from the attorney general's office that the state had been overcharged for millions of pounds of "fill" which never went into the airport.

The ousted weighers, probers stated, worked in collusion with contractors in two "patterns" to mulct the state. In the first "pattern" known as "looping," ten-ton loads of gravel or stone would be driven to the scales and a credit slip issued by the weighers to the driver.

The driver, according to the probers, would promptly pull away from the scales, drive to a nearby tavern and rest awhile, then return and have the same load weighed in again. In one instance probers disclosed, the same load was weighed in five times, the contractor getting credit for 50 tons of fill while only ten was dumped on the development.

CHARGE FIGURES FALSIFIED

In the second "pattern," probers said, a driver bringing in a 16,000-pound load and working on an hourly basis would be given a slip showing he had delivered 23,000 pounds. The weights made no difference to the drivers, but after the slip had been turned over to Hathaway clerks the contractors would be credited with the extra two and a half tons.

Probers stated that frequently several or all of the state weighers on the job would be "invited" to near-by taverns and would spend from three to five hours away from the job while contractors' men filled out slips their own figures.

Asst. Atty. Gen. George Fi goid, in charge of the probe sta ed that the State Police workir on the case have "barely scratche the surface of gigantic frauds."

He stated that at least tw persons would be the subject of Essex County grand jury probe

Egyptians Riot As UN Fails To Oust British

CAIRO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Egyptian crowds tried to set fire to the British Consulate and destroyed the statue of Ferdinand De Lesseps, French engineer who built the Suez Canal, in violent demonstrations today against the United Nations Security Council's failure to order British troops out of Egypt.

The demonstrators began marching through Port Said soon after news of the Security Council's failure to reach a decision in the British-Egyptian case became kown, shouting "down with the Security Council; down with Britain; long live Egypt and the Sudan; long live Russia, Poland and Syria."

Egyptian police prevented the Port Said crowd from firing the British Consulate there, after which the dmonstrators proceeded to a British camp, but Egyptian police surrounded the area and prevented a possible clash there.

Weissmuller's Rescue Attempt Proves Vain

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, Sept. 11 (INS)—Production on an American film was halted temporarily today after a tragedy in which screenland's "Tarzan" brought his famed jungle agility to play in a real life-and-death drama.

Johnny Weissmuller, hero of innumerable "Tarzan" films, leaped into a deep ravine near Cuernavaca in a futile effort to save the life of a Mexican electrician entangled in heavy cable.

Senators See No Hope Of Price-Control Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Six Senators, members of a committee investigating prices, expressed the opinion today that any formal appeals to Congress for resumption of price controls would fall flat. Three Republicans and three Democrats doubted, first, that a new system of ceilings would work and, second, that Congress would approve one.

"My present feeling is that any price controls must be linked with wage controls and profit controls," said Sen. Flanders (R.) of Vermont. "I'm inclined to think that's too big a mouthful for the American public to swallow in peacetime."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming, agreeing Congress would be reluctant to reimpose controls, said business management has the "alternative of either reducing prices so as to prevent the continued rise in the cost of living or come face to face with an irresistible demand for government action."

Sen. Ball (R.) of Minnesota described talk about returning to wartime price ceilings as "silly," and Sen. Sparkman (D.) of Alabama, doubted the nation would be able to resume price controls now.

"To get any good out of it we would have to roll back prices and we've gone too far now to do that," he said. "But if we don't stop price increases through some voluntary plan then we are certain to develop large buyer resistance by consumers."

Sen. Martin (R.) of Pennsylvania, said price control in peacetime destroys one of the American principles of free enterprise, and Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D.) of South Carolina said he does not expect a resumption of price controls "but it may be advisable to do something to protect the salaried man—if prices keep on skyrocketing something will have to be done."

Flanders had asked the price investigating subcommittee to meet here today to talk over plans.

Radcliffe College Dean Routs Thief

Miss Mildred P. Sherman, dean of Radcliffe College and an educator that all her girls swear by, bravely put to rout a housebreaker, giving him a good tongue-lashing in the bargain, it was disclosed by Cambridge police today. The Radcliffe dean was returning from a trip to the corner mail box when she spied a man crawling out the living room window of her home in Brattle st. Without hesitation she ran up to him, demanding:

"What were you doing in that house?"

"Oh, I just brought a drunk friend of mine home and he forgot his key," was the reply. "So I put him in the window. Didn't want to wake his wife, you know."

FIGHTING MAD

That was all that was needed to arouse Miss Sherman.

"What do you mean?" she demanded. "I'll have you know I live in that house and that no man lives there. If you have left anyone in there, get him out and get him out quick. However, I don't believe your story."

At this point, Dean Sherman looked vainly for help to detain the house-breaker. But none was in sight and the man fled down Brattle st., swinging into Sparks st.

She called police as speedily as possible after inspecting the house and finding the "drunk" story a myth.

Cambridge police found fingerprints on the window sill but no trace of the burglar, despite a search of the entire Harvard sq. area. Nothing in the house had been disturbed.

DEAN THREE YEARS

Miss Sherman was made dean of Radcliffe three years ago after having served as assistant dean for 11 years.

During her many years of service she has done everything from running the college to serving as air raid warden and arranging dances for her students.

Perhaps her greatest joy was her selection by the 1943 class as the one who had meant the most to the class because she had been their dean.

Born in Springfield, she was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1921 and served for three years at that college before coming to Radcliffe.

Mother Sobs, Father Faints At Grave of Murdered Girl

LAWRENCE, Sept. 11—Justice moved swiftly today in the case of Vincent DelleChiaie, 22, charged with the murder of Louise Anne Kurpiel, 7, as hundreds of mourners paid their last tribute at the funeral rites for the girl. St. Mary's Church was filled to capacity for the solemn high mass of requiem and hundreds more stood outside. Predominating in the throng were women, many of them with small children or babies in carriages.

The girl's heartbroken mother, Mrs. Ann Kurpiel, was virtually in collapse as she was assisted into the church by her husband, Louis.

She regained her composure as she took her seat but sobbed frequently as the Rev. Hugh P. O'Neill, O.S.A., celebrated the mass.

Her husband sought to comfort her and again assisted her as the little white casket was borne from the church by three boy and three girl classmates of the slain girl, all garbed in white.

FATHER COLLAPSES

But his iron composure broke at the grave in St. Mary's Cemetery and he collapsed in a faint as his wife screamed:

"I don't want to go home. I don't want to leave my poor little Louise."

Fr. O'Neill, who conducted the committal services, comforted her and helped her back to the waiting outo which was to take her back to her saddened home.

Mourners began to gather around the Hampshire st. funeral home as early as 6 a. m. and by the time the cortege started for the church, hundreds were lining the street.

The cortege was led by a special police detail led by Capt. Arthur Riley, one of the leading figures in the investigation of the girl's death.

SIX CHILD BEARERS

As it moved along Hampshire st. to the church it passed the Essex County jail directly beneath the window of the cell where DelleChiaie was confined.

After the funeral mass, the cortege headed for St. Mary's Cemetery and on its way passed the Washington School in Manchester st., where little Louise had been a pupil.

Classroom activities were halted and children lined the schoolroom windows as the procession moved slowly past the building. Outside the janitor stood with bowed head.

The school principal, Katherine Regan, attended the funeral as one of the mourners, as did School Committeeman John Mulcahy.

At the grave the six child bearers, Joseph Bingham, Lawrence Martin, Leonard Brown, Margaret Houlihan, Susan Paradis and Annette Dion, lowered the tiny casket, then tossed flowers on its top.

While the heartrending last rites were being conducted, DelleChiaie, who was indicted on a murder charge with record speed yesterday and immediately put under mental examination, learned he was to be arraigned today in a special criminal session in Lawrence Superior Court.

Dist. Atty. Cregg announced an equity session had been halted to permit holding of a special criminal session to arraign the youth on the indictment. He said he planned to ask for an immediate trial.

He promised grimly that there would be no unnecessary delay, even as an angry city murmured threats of taking the law into its own hands.

Blazing Truck Perils Quincy Oil Co. Plant

Fire, caused by static electricity, enveloped an unloaded gasoline tank truck today and for a time threatened to spread through the Quincy Oil Company's huge storage plant on the Southern Artery in Quincy.

Vincent Perrow, 42, of Commercial st., East Braintree, suffered burns of the hands and legs and singed hair and eyebrows when the flames flashed around him as he prepared to pump gasoline in the truck's empty tanks.

Firemen used fog nozzles to battle the flaming gasoline and worked for an hour before the fire was brought under control.

Morning rush hour traffic was at its height on the Southern Artery as the first started. Police details routed traffic from the scene for a half-mile in each direction.

The truck and three gasoline pumps were destroyed and damage was estimated at $5000.

Perrow, given first-aid treatment by Dr. George Sheehan, was taken to Quincy City Hospital.

He told police he had driven to the pumps to take on gasoline. As he turned on the pump there was a flash and the truck was enveloped in flames.

Missing Maine Dad Dead in New York

BRUNSWICK, Me., Sept. 11—The week-long disappearance of a young husband who left home two days before his first child was born was apparently solved today with the recovery of a body in New York harbor.

The body, found floating near a Staten Island pier, was tentatively identified through a social security card as that of Henry LaCasse, 21, of McLellan st. The cause of death was undetermined.

He had left for work at a textile mill last Thursday riding his bicycle and carrying his lunch pail as usual. The cycle and pail were found next day at the railroad station.

317 Boston Schools Open With 128,000 Enrollment

Boston's youth army, 128,000 strong, made its rendezvous at the zero hour at 317 public and parochial schools today for the start of another assault on ignorance. Some of their older brothers, armed with hope and zeal, were reporting for serious work at Boston College, the only Greater Boston institution of higher learning to get under way so early in the season. In its 84th year, the college expected a record enrollment of about 6000.

Of about 1100 freshmen registered this year, 297 were veterans. The freshman class, said the registrar's office, showed a slight drop from last year but the graduate schools indicated an increase. The eager-eyed freshmen were addressed this morning by the Very Rev. William L. Keleher, S. J., college dean.

Total enrollment in public schools was estimated at 94,000, a decrease from last year's 95,754. At school's end last June, six schools were closed in anticipation of a decrease in enrollment. The downward trend that had begun several years ago showed no sign of ending.

Parochial schools, however, reported a noticeable increase. In 48 elementary and intermediate schools and 17 high schools the enrollment was 34,000, according to the Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, diocesan superintendent. Last year's figure was just over 33,000.

Teachers' ranks in public schools had also declined to about 3800, due to the retirement of some instructors who took advantage of the new retirement age of 65. A number of young teachers had also been attracted to appointments in the Far West.

Food Prices Spiral To Dizzy Records

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (INS)—The average American pocketbook faced additional heavy drains today as commodity prices generally continued their dizzy upward spiral.

Wheat, corn, oats, soybeans and barley futures sold at all-time or seasonal price peaks in Chicago, while all September price records on cattle and hogs were broken at the stockyards.

Choice hogs sold today for $30.50 as trade at Union Stockyards opened, breaking the all-time record price of $30 set Feb. 25.

On the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, butter futures and nearby deliveries of eggs sold at record highs yesterday.

The high grain prices yesterday reflected the monthly crops report of only 2,404,000,000 bushels —about 885,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Also involved as a factor in the heavy buying was a report that Congress might be called into special session in the fall to consider a vast new program for European relief.

This would mean shipment of huge quantities of grains, fats, oils and other foods to the hungry nations of Europe.

The extra European demand was reported despite disclosure by the State Dept. that it has warned 25 nations America may cut grain exports 10 per cent in 1948 due to the short grain crop.

The shrunken grain yield and the additional extraordinary demands forecast a 1948 meat shortage, as the livestock supply is affected directly by the available feed supply.

Farmers and ranchers, faced with a shortage of feed grains, will be forced to sell their hogs, cattle and sheep this fall instead of feeding them to heavier weights and better quality for next year's market.

The weather, always one of a farmer's principal worries, was the major villain in cutting the corn yield. Late summer drouth conditions in the midwest slashed the harvest totals by millions of bushels.

The corn shortage was reflected in the record $2.65½ a bushel, established yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

December oats set an all-time peak at $1.24 a bushel.

September lard soared the $2 daily limit for the second consecutive day to $23.45 per hundredweight.

October eggs were bid up to 58.55 cents a dozen, while November and January butter went up to 76.95 and 76.50 cents a pound respectively.

Choice cattle sold at $35.25 a hundredweight, which compares with the record of $37 made late last fall after the OPA lid came off prices.

Ohio CIO Backs Toledo Wives in Buyers' Strike

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 11 (AP)—Housewives planning a buyers' strike to combat soaring food prices have the backing of the Toledo Joint Council of Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes — CIO — who yesterday voted in favor of state wide mass picket lines in support of such a strike.

The employes voted to instruct their delegates to the state CIO convention today at Cleveland to present resolution asking the picket lines.

Landlady, 73, Quits Food Strike

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Anna E. Boyer, 73, ended her seven-day hunger strike in protest over federal rent ceilings on her apartment dwelling.

Mrs. Boyer, who said she had taken only two or three quarts of ice water daily and an occasional teaspoon of olive oil, nibbled at a pint of ice cream, and declared:

"This is wonderful. Food never tasted so good."

The elderly woman, who claimed federal agencies held rents too low on her dilapidated two-story apartment dwelling, signed a rent control office hardship application, which gives her special consideration for review and relief.

Jews Stall Screening Process in Germany

LUEBECK, Germany, Sept. 11 (AP)—British officials screening Jews from the Exodus 1947 said today the refugees were "being obstinate and giving us plenty of trouble by trying to snag up the processes."

They made this comment at Poppendorf, larger of two camps near here in which the 4311 Jews were placed after their forcible debarkation Monday and Tuesday from a British convoy. The refugees were brought to Germany after failing to enter Palestine as unauthorized immigrants.

In Am Stau, the second camp, one Jewish leader told reporters:

"We are going to stay in these camps and make the British recognize us as Palestinians. We insist on going to Palestine."

Officials said that at both camps most of the refugees, refusing to tell their true national origins, gave Palestine as their place of origin and Hebrew or Yiddish as their only language.

German doctors and nurses were treating sick Jews at Poppendorf, where eight men and 10 women were hospitalized, some with injuries inflicted by British soldiers.

A government source said Mayor Israel Rokach of Tel Aviv and several other Jewish laders would be released from Larun Detention Camp this afternoon.

Those to be freed are among 60 Jews arrested six weeks ago in a police roundup of persons suspected of affiliation with the Extremist Jewish Underground.

Belgium Jails Jewish Pair for Bomb Plot

MONS, Belgium, Sept. 11 (AP)—Two Jews, a man and a woman, were sentenced to prison terms and fined today by a Belgian court on charges of transporting explosives for an illegal purpose. The prosecution said they intended to send "letter bombs" to six British military and government leaders in the middle east.

The two, Lizabeth Latzarus, 21, French writer and former war correspondent, and Jacob Elias, 29, a native of Russia, were arrested at the Belgian frontier June 2. Customs officials discovered in the woman's luggage 14 packets of explosives, two detonators, a fuse and six explosives addressed to the British leaders.

Miss Latzarus was sentenced to a year in prison and fine 7000 francs ($160). Elias was sentenced to eight months and fined 3500 francs ($80). Both said they held membership in the Stern Group, a Palestine underground organization. Both will be expelled from Belgium on expiration of their terms.

"The law seems inapplicable to the facts of the case."

Korff was arrested Saturday night at an airport outside Paris. He and nine others are held while the French sift the evidence.

Truman Spared, But Aides Given Works at Equator

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MISSOURI, Sept. 11 (AP)—Top presidential assistants got the works, but President Truman was let off easy today in the traditional hazing ceremony at the crossing of the equator.

King Neptune, mythological god of the seas, only required Mr. Truman to make a speech to become a full-fledged "shellback," instead of "a vile landlubber and polliwog."

Paddling, ducking and other indignities were saved for the presidential aides, such as John R. Steelman.

The chief executive was only one of some 1600 on this battleship who faced the hazing which seagoing men inflict on shipmates who are not "shellbacks," or veterans of a passage over the line.

Each received a mock subpoena saying:

"You will accept most heartily and with good grace all pains and penalties of the awful tortures that will be inflicted upon you to determine your fitness to be one of our trusty shellbacks."

MARGARET SINGS

A ducking tank and paddles were in plain sight last night when Davy Jones, representing the mythological Neptunus Rex, came aboard through a hawsepipe to call the polliwogs for trial.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman wore baker's caps as the only article of the uniform customarily required of polliwogs. Others in the presidential party went all out, including daughter Margaret, who appeared in a sou'wester hat and raincoat.

The initiation ceremony was waived for Mrs. Truman. Daughter Margaret had to sing a song with the ship's sextet.

But there wasn't any leniency for Steelman. He was led to an "operating" table where his feet were tickled. He was sawed with a paper knife and forced to swallow a vile-tasting drink.

Then, with paddles fashioned of canvass-wrapped cloth soaked in salt water, Neptune's minions beat the living daylights out of him as he was led up a platform wired for electrical shocks.

DUCKED IN POOL

There was more shocking and more noxious medicines and grease for his body until he reached the final chair.

Suddenly, over backwards he went into a pool where he was ducked until he yelled "shellback." He was thrown on a greasy chute to the deck, only to run through a block-long line of paddlers.

The same treatment was given presidential secretary Matthew J. Connelly and Stanley Woodward, State Department protocol chief, who forgot to bring his old shellback credentials.

The initiations of Secretaries Ross and Hassett were perfunctory, but Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, presidential physician and his assistant, Capt. Thomas J. Burns, went the full limit.

So did virutally all White House correspondents aboard while the President looked on, chuckling and apparently enjoying every minute of the spectacle.

Girl's Dad-Killing Story Belied by New Evidence

LACONIA, N. H., Sept. 11—County Atty. William W. Keller declared today he has obtained evidence that Sylvester Roberts arrived at his farm in Gilmanton two days before the date on which the Merchant Mariner's daughter claims she killed him.

Such evidence would tend to disprove the signed confession of Barbara Roberts, 20, that she shot her father in the kitchen last Dec. 23 when he reached the house in a rage over her failure to meet him at the Laconia railroad station.

Keller said he has interviewed a couple whose identities would not be divulged. They told him they gave Roberts a ride to Gilmanton after they came upon his taxi stalled in a snowdrift between Laconia and Gilmanton, Keller asserted.

The man clad in Merchant Marine uniform did not appear upset over his troubles in reaching Gilmanton, they said. They were positive the date was Dec. 21 because it was a Saturday which is their weekly shopping day.

During the ride to Gilmanton, their uniformed passenger told them he had lived in Gilmanton for many years, the couple said, adding that he left them in the town square.

Dog Leads Man, Thought Dead, to Wife

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Judy, a 12-year-old Pomeranian, was wandering around downtown Sacramento when a stranger called her.

There was something familiar about the stranger. Judy seemed to recognize the man. The man seemed very glad to see Judy and, when she trotted down the sidewalk, he followed her.

Judy led him to her mistress who probably has never been so surprised in her life, for the stranger turned out to be her husband, Sydney E. Lyons, 56, of Rapid City, who was reported dead by the War Dept. in May, 1943.

Lyons embraced his wife, Marye, in the midst of the city's crowd of shoppers.

Marye, 46, of Utica, N. Y., had married again after being notified her husband was dead. But, early this year, she obtained a divorce.

Sydney, a field artillery sergeant, had been reported dead when he was captured by the Japanese after a troop ship torpedoing. Reported first as missing and later dead, he did not reach the States again until Feb., 1946, after his rescue from a Jap prison camp.

His wife was not at their old address in Tacoma, Wash., and he started his search for her.

The reunited couple left for Reno to be remarried.

Mother Slain At Farewell To Daughter

NEWPORT, N. H., Sept. 11—Mrs. Myrtle Correveau, 48, of Georges Mills, was shot and killed late last night as she bade good night to her daughter, and early today police announced that her estranged husband, Achille, 46, apparently had committed suicide.

Mrs. Correveau, a physician's housekeper, was felled by a bullet from a .32-caliber revolver as she tood on the steps of the home of her daughter, Mrs. Vera Perry.

In her husband's Main st., apartment, police found two notes and a trail of blood which led to the bank of Sugar river, 1500 feet away. Sheriff James F. McCusker said the notes left by Correveau read like wills. In one, he wrote:

"In case of death, the rings on my fingers are to go to my son, Romero, of Norwalk, Ct."

MOTIVE A MYSTERY

The second note left by Correveau, read:

"All my possessions are to be divided .ekually .between .my daughter and my son."

Sheriff McCusker said he was convinced Correveau had committed suicide and said he had ordered the dragging of Sugar River. He added it appeared that the man had cut his wrist before leaving his apartment for the river.

The immediate motive for the shooting remained a mystery to officials. Detectives said Correveau and his wife had been separated for about two months.

WEAPON FOUND NEARBY

Investigators reported that Mrs. Correveau's assailant fired three shots at her as she stood on her daughter's doorstep. They added that Mrs. Perry tried vainly to pull her mother to safety as the shots were fired and narrowly missed being struck herself.

A weapon, which authorities believed was used in the shootin, was found at daybreak in the street nearby.

Before authorities discovered the notes in Correveau's apartment and the trail of blood, State Police had broadcast an alarm for his apprehension.

Sheriff McCusker said the dead woman was Correveau's second wife. Mrs. Perry and the son, Romero, he added, were children of Correveau's first marriage.

MacMillan Ends 25th Arctic Trip

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 11 (AP)—Completing his 25th trip to the Arctic regions, Dr. Donald B. MacMillan, veteran explorer-scientist, arrived in port aboard his exploration schooner Bowdoin.

With him were Mrs. MacMillan, a group of scientists and a crew of college students from universities in Massachusetts, Maine and Chicago.

The expedition left here late in June and spent two months carrying out exploration and scientific research.

1904 Vintage Franklin In 'Man and Superman'

Maurice Evans has borrowed a 1904 Franklin from Jimmy Melton's collection of antique automobiles for a prop in his production of the Bernard Shaw comedy, "Man and Superman," which opens at the Shubert Theater Sept. 22 for a fortnight's run prior to Broadway.

The vintage horseless carriage will be transported to New Haven by truck from its Westport museum on the Melton farm. A special baggage car has been engaged to bring the vital property from New Haven to Boston, then into New York for the play's bow on Oct. 8.

Stricter Economy Hope of Blue Cross

The Blue Cross has cut its operational costs from 15 per cent of total receipts to 10 per cent and hopes to lower expenses to 8 per cent in order to make good its promises to the 2,000,000 Bay Staters covered by its service.

This was the statement of George Putnam, president, and Reginald F. Cahalane, executive director, at a State House hearing before a special commission studying legislation to improve and stabilize Blue Cross service.

Putnam admitted that the organization had made "overpromises" of service which it later found it could not pay. He said the organization has 900,000 subscribers here, covering 2,000,000 persons.

"Computation of dates," Putnam said, "was done largely through guesswork as no actuaries were employed.

MUST HIKE RATES OR QUIT

"The Blue Cross," he added, "cannot go on without an increase in rates. A policy of coinsurance by which the organization will pay a stated amount to subscribers instead of guaranteeing hospital bills, with the subscriber paying the difference in his total bill, may be instituted," he said.

"We've taken a long time to find things out," Putnam said, explaining that in some instances hospitals furnished inaccurate and misleading breakdowns of costs.

"In some instances," he said, "rate schedules were not acted on by Com. Harrington for as long as six months and then were disproved because they weren't high enough."

WANTS PUBLIC MEMBERS

Putnam proposed that the State insurance commissioner be named an ex-officio member of the Blue Cross board of directors to save it from repeating its errors. He said there would be no objection to a suggestion that the Governor appoint five "public members" on the board of 17 directors.

Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, director of Beth Israel Hospital and an official of the Mass. Hospital Ass'n and the Blue Cross added:

"Hospitals are unable to give service at a rate computed last fall because of rising costs. The Beth Israel payroll in 1942 was $280,000. This year it will be $700,000."

Doctor's Story Sought as Key To Boy Murder

Authorities today sought in two states to track down a psychiatrist to whom Eugene Leroy Leach, suicide farmhand, is believed to have confessed the sex murder of Edward Flynn, Jr., 12, slain in Billerica last March.

Leach had been the top suspect in the case since his suicide by carbon monoxide May 8 at Chattanooga, Tenn., but this revelation only came to light when State police here decided to place a story in the American Journal of Medicine, widely read by doctors.

The apparent solution of the fiendish killing came about right after the suicide through a letter of remorse in which Leach wrote to his Weymouth wife that he had consulted a psychiatrist and learned that he was an incurable sex pervert.

He wrote that he had committed a crime of which the law had no knowledge.

ON TENNESSEE BORDER

The suicide letter was written from Poplarsville, Miss., on the Tennessee border, and authorities reason that the doctor Leach consulted probably lives in that area.

Highway patrols of both states long have been checking all doctors in hope of locating the one who advised Leach to go back and surrender to Massachusetts authorities.

Leach, in the letter which told of his forthcoming suicide, wrote his wife:

"I have come here to think things out. I am using the assumed name of Ian Korvetsky. I put myself at the mercy of a psychiatrist to determine whether or not I was a sex pervert. I told him everything about myself.

"He determined I was, and that the chances of my cure for sex perversion are remote. He advised me to return to Massachusetts and give myself up.

"He said I might be put in an institution where I could harm nobody. But I am going to rid the world of a danger and escape my subconscious."

"LONE WOLF" TYPE

State Police Det.-Capt. Joseph C. Crescio said the letter made no admission of the Flynn crime, but he added that the exhaustive probe made by state police revealed that Leach was a "lone wolf" type who was absent from his quarters in the Tower Farm, Boston rd., Billerica, on the night and at the time of the crime.

Crescio said he had sent Lieut. James Conniff to Tennessee to seek the one link which would definitely establish Leach as young Flynn's slayer — the psychiatrist to whom the suicide made his confession. The accumulated evidence in the case, Crescio said, had caused a "strong suspicion" that the suicide had solved the killing.

Training Need Urgent, Says Wainwright

Special to the Boston American

CHICAGO, Sept. 11—The safety and welfare of the U. S. in a troubled world demand Universal Military Training without delay, Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright feels. In fact, he said, the need for it is urgent.

If the United States had enacted a universal military training law before World War II, Gen. Wainwright said, "many, many American lives would have been saved, the invasion of Europe could have been moved up one year and the war could have been ended one to two years earlier.

"Universal military training is the cheapest and best form of national security the American people can have."

Gen. Wainwright would divide the year of military training into a basic training period of six months, followed by specialized training.

Summing up his case for Universal Military training, Gen. Wainwright said:

"I hope the American people will have the foresight to realize that without adequate military might to guard our democracy from predatory nations we could lose a fight."

AFL Council Cites Red Peril to Peace

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (INS)—The 15-man executive council of the American Federation of Labor termed Russia "a threat to world peace."

The council, representing 7,500,000 workers, demanded the U. S. end its "do-nothing" policy and take the initiative in smoothing difficulties between the two nations.

Executive council members hinted that new pay increases may be sought "unless the cost of living is promptly reduced and stabilized."

Canadian Gallon Held Crash Cause

Four North Shore socialites killed in a spectacular plane crash in Everett Aug. 7 might be alive today except for the difference in volume between an American and a Canadian gallon.

This was the verdict today of the State aeronautics commission on the crash of a chartered plane into a smokestack, killing Thomas P. Mandell of Boston and Beverly, his daughters, Harriot and Ann, and John N. B. Pell of Hamilton.

Pell was flying the plane for the first time when he took the family to Montreal. He refueled there, and because the imperial gallon equals 1.2 American gallons, the number required for refueling was less.

The commission reports he might have erroneously concluded the fewer gallons needed was evidence the plane did not us as much fuel as it actually did, and he could have run out of gasoline over Everett just before the crash.

Steel Men Refute Wallace Charge

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said last night that the steel industry's "high command" plans a production drop "that will make a depression inevitable," and almost at the same time a spokesman for the industry announced it is completing this year a billion-dollar program to increase output.

Walter S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, described an expansion and improvement program "involving record-breaking peacetime expenditures totaling more than $1,000,000,000" and said expenditure of several hundred millions more was planned.

Wallace's remarks also brought from Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., a statement that his firm has a half-billion dollar building program, about 440 per cent complete. He cited this as an "answer to any charge that we expect a major depression in the near future."

The countries will need $35,000,000,000 in consumer and capital goods in the four years.

From Antwerp-by Air

DIRECT IMPORTATION OF DIAMONDS IN THE MOST POPULAR ENGAGEMENT RING SIZES

For centuries, Belgium and Holland have been the diamond-cutting centers of the world. The ancient city of Antwerp, however - the metropolis of Belgium - is now considered the largest and greatest. There, nineteen thousand men were employed as diamond-cutters before the war. There, one street alone - Rue du Pelican - has been made world famous by the diamond industry.

Paralyzed during war years - raided by the Germans for diamonds of all grades - Antwerp is just now resuming diamond-trading-activities - is just now unearthing the precious stones that were hidden from their enemies.

From Antwerp to the Boston Customs House - par avion (by air) - and thence to 40 Summer Street has come our second importation of unset diamonds in almost eight years. Individual stones are priced from two to four hundred dollars and are in the popular engagement ring sizes. They are exceptional values because they meet our rigid standards for clarity, cutting and color. If you want a fine diamond, your selection of one of these - with a mounting of your choice - will give lasting satisfaction.

Prices include tax — Rings slightly enlarged to show detail — Charge or budget

Race Track Jinx Story in Weekly

Wealthy Charley Howard's race horses were defeated so often by a head that this meager margin had become a jinx to him. Even the great Seabiscuit lost a crucial $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap by the same margin—the head of the winning horse.

Warren Brown and Dan Parker, noted sports writers, have collaborated to write the colorful true story of Howard and his jinx in the article, "Tale of the Horse's Head," to be published in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Another interesting article for readers in Sunday's American Weekly will be "Remedies for Migraine, Polio, Deafness," an article by G B Lal on new medical experiments to improve your health.

WINS GIRL, JUMPS WITH JOY, BREAKS LEG

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—James H. Davis, 22-year-old Marine, literally jumped for joy—and landed in a hospital—after his girl agreed to marry him.

Davis slipped the engagement ring on her finger and then took her for a stroll. Buoyantly, he jumped for a low-hanging tree limb, caught it, then slipped. The fall fractured his ankle.

"I thought I was walking on air," said Davis as an ambulance took him away.

"I feel terrible about the accident, but I'm glad we're engaged," his fiancee, Marion Schubert said.

Teacher of Jap Prince Gets Contract Extension

TOKYO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Vining, Philadelphia school teacher who became the first American to instruct Japanese royalty, tomorrow will sign a one-year extension of her contract as English tutor to Crown Prince Akihito.

She will depart by plane Sunday for a two-months visit to the United States, but will see to it that 14-year-old Akihito keeps up his English lessons—by correspondence.

5000 CHINESE CASUALTIES

PEIPING, Sept. 11 (AP)—Official sources said today government forces had inflicted 5000 casualties on Chinese Communists in two days and nights of bitter fighting.

Priests' Attackers Excommunicated

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Sacred Congregation of the Council of the Roman Catholic Church today announced excommunication of the aggressors of Fr. Milo Bulesich, who was killed, and Msgr. Jakob Ukmar, who was wounded, in a disorder Aug. 24 at Lamsche, in the Yugoslav zone of Venezia Giulia

"All those who physically or morally participated in committing the crimes or who were a necessary part have incurred excommunication."

Ex-Reds to Tell of Russian Plot to Seize Transit Lines

By HOWARD RUSHMORE
Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—Three former Communists who were among the founders of the Transport Workers' Union, CIO, are expected to testify against John Santo in a deportation hearing scheduled to reopen today.

These ex-Reds, who sat in closed "cell" meetings of the Red Fascist organization with Michael J. Quill, now TWU president, have been asked by the immigration service to provide proof that Santo was a Communist party member.

Not only have they been asked to testify to Santo's role as commissar in the TWU, but the former Communists are expected to furnish evidence that the union was a Red Fascist apparatus set up to capture the transit lines in event of a revolution.

The Justice Dept. is seeking to prove that Santo was a member of an organization—the Communist party—which seeks to overthrow the government by force and violence.

A flat denial was made by the department that the deportation proceedings have any connection whatever with labor disputes.

Government witnesses will bring official Red documents to the hearings, proving that Russia directed all union strategy through various agents assigned to take over the trade union movement for Moscow.

Witnesses who appeared at the opening of the Santo hearing Monday were closely guarded.

It is known that several of the 14 witnesses subpoenaed by the Immigration Service were reluctant to testify because of previous experience with strong-arm squads maintained by the Communist-controlled unions.

Cabinet of Moderates Takes Over in Turkey

ANKARA, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new interim cabinet, containing mostly moderates, took over the reins of government in Turkey today under Premier Hasan Saka.

Saka completed his new government, which is destined to rule only until parliament reconvenes in November, with only four new figures. All of the others were members of the Recep Peker government which collapsed Tuesday.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—I have a good crop of early potatoes, but they are scabby. What causes this?

A—Scab is caused by a fungous organism that lives in the soil. It is encouraged by liming or the use of wood ashes. Plant potatoes on new land and use commercial fertilizer as a source of plant food next year.

Q—How can fruits be kept from browning while preparing for freezing?

A—Add ¼ teaspoon of ascorbic acid to each cup of syrup. This can be purchased at your local drugstore.

Q—Is it safe to put poultry manure between asparagus rows now?

A—Yes. While it will not do much good this year it will help to build up the soil for next season.

Q—Have sprayed late cabbage, but the spray does not stick.

A—Suggest using dust applied when the leaves are damp. Rotenone applied regularly should give good control for the green worm.

Q—Our tomatoes crack as soon as they get red. What is the reason?

A—Too much rain often causes cracking after a dry spell. Mulching will help to check this trouble. For market, pick as soon as they show color.

Tidelands Ruling Seen Ending States' Rights

Special to the Boston Evening American

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11—States' rights: born 1789, died 1947.

This, Atty. Gen. Fred F. Howser declared today, could be the epitaph for America's 48 sovereign states if the federal government pursues a course in line with the Supreme Court's recent decision on the California tidelands issue.

The California attorney general issued his blunt warning before the final session of the Western Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments in San Francisco.

The court's ruling, which gave ownership of California's oil-rich tidelands to the federal government, in effect applies to all states and their subsoil deposits of copper, coal or iron, Howser asserted.

He based his belief on the majority opinion of the court, part of which says:

"As people and world commerce are the paramount responsibilities of the nation, rather than an individual state, so if wars come, they must be fought by the nation.

"The government also appears in its capacity as a member of the family of nations. In that capacity it is responsible for conducting U. S. relations with other nations.

"The federal government has the paramount right and power to determine in the first instance when, how and by what agency, foreign or domestic, the oil and other resources of the soil of the marginal sea . . . known or hereinafter discovered, may be exploited."

Howser pointed out that California's state Constitution expressly provided that its ocean-ward boundary extended from Mexico into the ocean three miles to Oregon, "also including all the islands, harbors and bays along and adjacent to the coast."

MERCHANT MARINE AND NAVY

IN KEEPING with the consistent policy it has pursued ever since its organization, The American Legion, at its recent national convention in New York, urged the maintenance of a Merchant Marine in peacetime adequate for national defense in the event of war.

Among the many comprehensive resolutions adopted by the convention in support of the country's national defense establishments was the urgent proposition:

"That the Merchant Marine be developed for commercial service in peace and MAINTAINED FOR MILITARY SERVICE AS A VITAL ARM OF OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE IN WAR."

Since that purpose can only be accomplished by making the Merchant Marine an INTEGRAL PART OF THE NAVY, in peacetime as it is in war, the position of the American Legion should give new impetus to the strong movement now developing in Congress and throughout the country for such a program of maritime integration.

While the Legion re-emphasizes a long established policy in taking this position, the serious and in fact critical deterioration of the Merchant Marine in the brief period since the last war gives the action special significance.

One of the factors which most strongly influenced the Legion to repeat and indeed go beyond its previous endorsements of the Merchant Marine as an auxiliary of the Navy was the challenging appeal made to the New York convention by President Frazer Bailey of the National Federation of American Shipping.

"It would be a fatal fallacy to be strong in world leadership and productive power," said Mr. Bailey, "but too weak to furnish supply lines to our military in an emergency.

"We must not only view merchant ships as a means of defense, but we may also view them realistically as a war preventive."

THAT IS PRECISELY the long-time contention of the Hearst newspapers—that a strong Merchant Marine integrated with the Navy will not only give America formidability and even supremacy in war, but will give us our best assurance of KEEPING OUT OF WAR.

Accordingly, as Mr. Bailey asserts, it is not just our best chance for a victory in a future war but OUR BEST CHANCE FOR PEACE that we are jeopardizing by permitting deterioration of the Merchant Marine.

And our current rate of maritime deterioration, as he reports, is a frightening thing.

Foreign merchant fleets, augmented by purchases of American ships and by their own post-war construction, are already capable of transporting 70 per cent of America's normal tonnage at lower rates than American operating costs permit, he told the Legion convention.

Moreover, he warned, American shippers in coastal and intercoastal service are being FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS.

"Two-thirds of American shipping was in this trade prior to the war," Mr. Bailey observed.

"They are the first ships to be called into service in an emergency.

"The rate-making agencies should make it possible for these ships to exist and expand.

"It is vital.

"Before the last war we had 127 passenger ships.

"We now have only 39, and no private interests are willing to build more or try to operate them unless the government will help."

THE BEST HELP the Government can give, and the only kind of help that will give America maritime sufficiency in peace and military supremacy in war, is an INTEGRATED MARITIME ESTABLISHMENT under permanent Navy jurisdiction in peace as well as in war.

A strong Merchant Marine is vitally essential to New England's prosperity.

And, in the event of war, it is extremely necessary for the section's protection and security.

Sweet, be not still indifferent,
Love or hate me more or less
For love abhors all lukewarm-

Give me a tempest if 'twill drive
Me to the place where I would be;
Or if you'll have me still alive
Confess you will be kind to me.
Give hopes of bliss or dig my grave
More love or more disdain I crave.

ABOVE BRINGS to mind the popular ditty of yesteryear, "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Love," I claim Lillian Roth introduced this song. A nearby colleague claims it was Ethel Merman. Who wins the stogie?

AULD LANG SYNE: Faith Bacon, originator of the fan dance, is now holding forth at the Midnight Follies in Tijuana, Mexico, where life is very gay. Johnny Maiben, celebrated jockey of the past, is currently acting as an official at the Del Mar, Cal., race track. "Where the Turf Meets the Surf."

Harry Richman is at a night club on the Sunset Strip Hollywood. He is still singing "Laugh, Clown Laugh." I don't know what became of Gypsy Rose Lee. Havent seen or heard of her in a long time.

IT IS REPORTED that in Australia several dentists are using hypnotism in achieving painless dentistry. The report says patients are hypnotized by being ordered to concentrate on a pencil point held five inches from the nose. I am going to try that type of hypnotism out tonight. I would do it now. But, suppose it worked? I might put myself to sleep and miss the first race.

PASSING BY: Dr. Hyacinthe Lalande, Beautiful M. D. from Paris. She is in Brooklyn studying the technique of painless childbirth. Maybe you didn't know people came from Europe to Brooklyn to study medicine. Stick around and learn about Brooklyn from me. You'll soon realize the beautiful borough over the bridge has many other claims to fame besides being the home of the Dodgers . . . Teddy Hayes. Once the trainer of Jack Dempsey. Now engaged in a number of varied enterprises, one of which is the legalized Mexican international sweepstakes. I never won a dime from a sweepstakes or lottery ticket and I have bought them all over the world. Only thing I ever won in a raffle was a live turkey and then I nearly got arrested trying to take it home in the subway.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—I remember Rose Stahl in the play "Maggie Pepper." Think I can get in the Young Old Timers? A—I believe I could fix it for you if you also remember the same actress in the play "The Chorus Lady." Q—Who will win the match race between Armed and Assault? A—Assault by a half a length. Q—In what film was there shown a fight between a cobra and a mongoose? A—This battle was shown in the film "The Letter" in which Jeanne Eagels starred.

HORSES & WOMEN: Seven bachelors now at Lake Arrowhead, Cal., have presented one of their problems to our Horses & Women department experts. The spokesman for the group says they are all interested in a brown-eyed honey blonde who is in her middle thirties. She attends the local dances. She flirts with the seven bachelors, but will let none escort her home. She arrives at the dance alone and leaves alone. How can her reserve be broken down is what her admirers want to know? Our Horses & Women experts strongly suspect the lady in question to be a mischievous but cautious married woman. It is suggested the bachelors be guarded in their attentions to her, until they know more about the lady. California husbands are very touchy. Some carry guns.

SAYS HE: "So some critical Manhattan female says the current crop of young men is largely composed of spineless, anemic specimens; that a good man is hard to find," writes a Chicago bachelor. "How about the several million good men who fought the war to make this country safe to live in? Most of the young fellows of today are all right. They have proven that. It is the young women who are below par. Consider all the girls who could have enlisted in the various women's branches of the armed services, but stayed at home and had a good time while these young men now referred to as 'anemic specimens' swallowed in the muck and blood of the battlefields. Most young women of today want their dreams to come true automatically—they don't want to work to help a man to be a success. They are clothes crazy. Their ideal companion is a man who is a smooth dancer and a big spender, not a clean-cut fellow who has ambitions to have a home and raise a family!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—E. J. Kahn, Jr., one of the rapturous writers in efforts to strengthen Frank Sinatra's reputation, may in this instance be an inferior reporter for all his seeming of thoroughness and authority.

Westbrook Pegler

Kahn professes to have made a competent study of his subject, but nowhere in his eulogies does he tell us that Sinatra's income is somewhat more or less than a million dollars a year, out of which, it might be noted, he could distribute, say, $500,000 as a deductible business expense to stimulate favorable publicity and to suppress unfavorable information.

Sinatra's publicity has been a phenomenon of propaganda. Almost all of it since his involvement in two unpleasant episodes last winter has been complimentary. And most of it has been absolutely gratuitous, unjustified by any city desk news standard.

Doubtless much of it has been free propaganda in the nature of public mashnotes from ideologians who have thus repaid Sinatra for his pretentious "services" to some of their political projects.

MR. KAHN IS ONLY one of many writers, including night club, radio and movie columnists of New York and Hollywood, who have minimized incidents of Sinatra's career which other persons might have viewed with severity.

Dozens of these "interpreters" and propagandists purport to be authorities on the personal histories of all such "celebrities."

Many of them draw outlandish salaries as "reporters," but not one of them has ever reported the entirely complete story of Sinatra's life.

Mr. Kahn concedes that Sinatra has "several friends who, while not precisely desperadoes, are fairly rough-and-tumble individuals."

He quotes one of Sinatra's friends as saying that such persons "are always looking out to see that nothing happens to Frankie and it makes him happy to think they're tough hombres."

We are not told why they should apprehend that anything might "happen to" a decent man, keeping good company.

AGAIN KAHN SAYS: "He is often surrounded by a strolling wall of self-appointed guardians," and "he doesn't have any official bodyguard now, but he has had them."

When Sinatra slugged Lee Mortimer, the New York theatrical reporter, in Ciro's in Hollywood, Mortimer said: "Sinatra and three men jumped me."

Now, touching Sinatra's relaxation with Luciano, the Fischettis and others, in Havana, Kahn writes: "One of his acquaintances this past year has been a Chicagoan named Joe Fischetti. He was a man of unsullied reputation himself, but a member of a family not unfamiliar with the due processes of the law. It was through relatives of Fischetti's that Sinatra, while vacationing in Cuba, was induced to shake hands with Lucky Luciano."

That is Kahn's version. He stands on it.

BUT ONE OF SINATRA'S own group has referred to a party in which the idol of innocent American girlhood allegedly took part in the Hotel Nacional in Havana as "that debauch."

Among those present were Sinatra, Luciano, the Fischettis, a Chicago journalist of the night club run and a number of women. It seems to have been a very loud party.

According to that version of the story, such was the handshake with Luciano, one of the foulest criminals of the age and a man even then to be deported from Cuba for conspiring to start a great narcotic trade.

The United States even cut off legal narcotic traffic with Cuba until he had been taken out of action. Sinatra should have known who and what Luciano was.

A strip of moving pictures shows Sinatra coming off the plane in Havana, accompanied by two Fischettis, Joe and Rocco.

A GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION revealed that Sinatra's friend Joe was a partner with Rocco and another brother named Charlie in a suburban Chicago gambling dive.

Rocco was described as a member of the Italian secret underworld organization, the Mafia, of which Luciano was the leader.

Rocco is named in the passenger list just above Sinatra and is with him in the candid movie shot.

In Chicago, all three Fischettis live together, Joe and Charlie professed to be antique dealers, but Joe, in official government papers, gave his occupation as "wagering." Rocco said he was "a gambler."

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11 — Katharine Hepburn's ruffled feelings — if they were ruffled—have been assuaged by a new story which M-G-M has bought, which she likes very much, called "The Saintly Miss Peters." It's an original by William Roberts, and because it is a romantic comedy about two young screwballers, Paul Jones, who did so well by Bob Hope's comedy, will produce. Katie has so long wanted to do a comedy, after the somber Clara Schumann role and the other dramas she's made.

Katharine Hepburn

I am very glad to see film companies buying originals and giving our own writers a chance. Some of the stage plays really got sour when they were adapted. Not all, of course - some of our best pictures have come from stage hits, but the ones that die in the theater should stay in their funeral tomb there.

JANE RUSSELL certainly has no reason to gripe about Howard Hughes, for he is lending her to Edward Alperson after she finishes making "Pale Face" with Bob Hope.

For years Howard refused to lend the much publicized Jane and she was a very unhappy girl, because she felt, since he wasn't making any more pictures, and "The Outlaw" which she made had not been released, she had no chance to get ahead.

In the Alperson movie, "Rose of Cimarron," Jane will have the role of an untamed gun woman, sort of a feminine counterpart of "Little Caesar." The story is the W. R. Burnett novel which Alperson is making for 20th, and which Burnett is adapting.

WHEN DORE SCHARY, now head of RKO productions, was a struggling writer he roomed with another young writer by the name of Don Hartman. Well, today Dore signed Don to a long term deal as producer-director and they immediately conferred on a Ginger Rogers story.

The success of Hartman is well known. His "road" pictures with Bing and Bob, introducing the technique of the movies kidding themselves, have been the last word in originality. Hartman also made Danny Kaye's "Up In Arms" and Bob Hope's "The Princess and the Pirate" for Samuel Goldwyn.

I WAS surprised when I heard that Lenoid Kinskey had been married again by Judge George A. Dockweiler, so I investigated. I learned that Kinskey remarried his Viennese countess wife, Iphigenie Castiglioni, on the fifth anniversary of their first marriage.

The Kinskeys had their first ceremony performed in Mexico City in 1942, and because Mexican ceremonies sometimes do not hold, and for sentimental reasons, they decided to take their vows a second time

Maybe it might be a good idea for a lot of Hollywood couples to do the same—it might make them realize the seriousness of marriage.

CHIT CHAT: It appears that John Calvert, magician and motion picture actor, is very popular with the ladies. After my story appeared about the slashing of the painting by Carol Janis, who worked with him in his magic act, several young ladies telephoned to say he wasn't engaged to Miss Janis, as one newspaper reported.

Seems that one, Dorothy Gardner, whom he took out a number of times, and who is an Earl Carroll girl, was especially grieved over the article. She also had been in Calvert's magic act.

Why, John, I never knew you were such a Don Juan!

Together with her many devoted friends, I am delighted that Marjorie Rambeau, one of our finest actresses, is well enough to return to the screen after the automobile accident in which she was so seriously injured two years ago. Her sister was killed in that same accident.

Marjorie has signed for a wonderful part in "Walls of Jericho" and 20th Century-Fox is lucky to get her. Congratulations to both Marjorie and 20th

"I wish you'd write something about my little girl, she's an actress," my waiter at the Du Mar Jockey Club said to me last week

His name is Ewald Lace and he is the father of 11-year-old Ann Lace, who had small parts in "Secret Heart," "My Brother Talks to Horses," and several other movies. Now it seems Walt Disney is considering her for an important part in "Alice in Wonderland," which is good news to little Ann and her dad.

Well, Ewald, you gave me excellent service, so how's this in return?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: That's a very pretty new sapphire ring Dale Evans is wearing

Pat Dane is concentrating on Lew Wertheimer and has had dinner with him this past week for the third time

Dale Evans

Mrs. Richard K. Poliner, wife of the Hollywood producer, has dated the stork for some time this winter.

Sophie Tucker, like Tennyson's brook, goes on and on. She sang song after song at her Florentine Gardens opening, to the delight of Fannie Brice, Sid Grauman, Phil Baker and many other old friends, Marie Wilson and Harry Richman hurried from their own shows to give the mammy singer a hand. Sophie was done to the teeth in ermine and orchids, with a fascinating and tricky hair-do. The dance team of Grace Poggi and Igor Dega (Ann Dvorak's bridegroom) I thought especially good.

Rory Flynn, 5½-months-old baby of Errol Flynn and Nora Eddington, has been very sick with chicken pox. While her parents are in Jamaica the baby is still with Nora's parents. Errol is due back in two weeks to start work in "Don Juan."

The Jock McLeans have been house guests of Sylvia Fairbanks Stanley. Sylvia is now living in her Santa Monica home. She came West to see her boy friend, Bob Sweeney, play football

Where was Vivi Stokes? The boy friend, Lawrence Tierney, was buying dinner for Nell King at Coronet.

Bette Davis' husband, William Grant Sherry, has received his pilot's license and expects to buy a plane. Bette was with him when he received his license.

Buddy Pepper's new song, "Don't Tell Me," from "The Hucksters," is meeting with flattering success

Harry James and his band are flying to Cuba for an engagement early in October.

Johnny Mack Brown's 18-year-old daughter, Jane Harriet, will attend Johnny's alma mater, the University of Alabama. Remember Johnny Mack was an all-American football player?

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—June Knight, the beautiful blonde musical comedy star who helps Bobby Clark cavort through "Sweethearts," was sitting in Leone's the other afternoon chatting with a friend when suddenly she got the bright idea that she wanted to make a little change in the staging of the show

There is a point in the plot (sic!) when Bobby Clark wheels June out in a wheelbarrow June decided to vice versa the deal and wheel the barrow out with Bobby in it. Much betting went on about whether she'd go through with her plan or not. She did though, and got lots of laughs. When she returned to her dressing room she found an orchid on her table with a note which read: "I saw the show tonight just to see if you'd have the nerve. I was sitting at the next table in Leone's." No signature.

June Knight

P. S. June's saving the orchid and the note to prove her story.

BACKSTAGE at the Roxy the other afternoon, Jack Haley's phone rang in his dressing room. When he asked who it was, a very lilting voice replied, "Buffalo, New York." Inasmuch as Jack doesn't know anyone in Buffalo, New York, he inquired again. This time not one, but ten voices started to jabber all at once. One of the long distance operators in Buffalo had a yen to call Haley on the phone and she spread the news to the other girls. Jack survived the barrage of questions briefly, then told them, "Sor-ry, your three minutes are up!" and gently placed the receiver on the hook.

IAN MARTIN had a funny but embarrassing situation recently. Ian is the 35-year-old actor who plays the aged "Finian McLonergan" in "Finian's Rainbow." When Ian was notified that he was to play "Finian," he was advised to drop in at the theater to watch the play as often as he could. One evening he by-passed the box office, approached the door, and announced he was connected with the show and wanted to see the performance. "I play Finian," said Martin. With a smile that said "Are you kidding, bud?" the doorman conveyed his conviction that Ian was lying, since Finian is a man in his sixties and Martin is a healthy, young-looking 35. Ian also is timid and didn't want to bother anyone backstage. He meekly left the theater, escorted by the skeptical (and who could blame him?) ticket taker.

ONE OF THE little known stories about Bob Hope concerns the time the movie and radio star was doing his bit overseas entertaining the boys. After several strenuous weeks of touring all over Europe, Hope and a couple of entertainers arrived in Paris and decided to visit a local night spot and relax. When they entered, the Parisian master of ceremonies recognized the ski-nosed comedian and asked if he would get up and make with the gags. Bob begged off, but agreed to take a bow from the table . . . About halfway through the show the M. C. beamed a spot on Bob and after introducing the two people with him, he said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the great privilege of introducing a comedian from the States and I would like to present to you, Mr. Boob Hope!" Now when he recalls it Bob says, "I didn't mind him giving me the third billing, but that Boob Hope business was a knife in the heart"

MAESTRO MEYER DAVIS has probably played at more society parties than any bandleader in America, and he tells this story on himself. A few years ago, he was asked to bring his orchestra to Washington for a swank party at which many of the country's most important dignitaries would be present. As the socialites danced around, Davis noticed that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and a large group of young people hovered around the drums and seemed to be hysterical about something. It seems the drummer had a silhouette of a nude woman shaped on his drum in neon lights, and this he had cautiously turned on. The younger set pleaded with Davis not to turn it off and all evening, the dowagers present had a tough time keeping their staid husbands from crowding the bandstand with all the avidity of bobby soxers during a Krupa solo.

Washington Scene

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11—I had always thought of the average United States Senator as a man of impressive dignity and bearing, but now I am beginning to wonder if I have been afflicted with some strange form of Washington astigmatism. Maybe I have not seen them as others see them.

Because this may turn out to be a very touchy piece, fraught with all kinds of fraughts, I approach it in pure objectivity. I will stick to the straight, unembellished facts, refraining from comment, and I hope you will do the same.

In order to keep in touch with the common people, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, of the state of Washington, went to Charlie Morrison's Mocambo the other evening, this being an establishment where the common people hang outside the front door waiting for the celebrities to arrive and depart, so they may snag them for autographs and pieces of raiment.

The sidewalk was crowded with common people, but they failed to give a tumble to the distinguished lawmaker, maybe because he hasn't done too well in his last couple of pictures, one of which showed him holding a dead salmon sent by a constituent and the other posing with a group of clubwomen who wished his support in discouraging the use of snuff by Pacific coast halibut fishermen.

IF YOU HAVE NOT done well in your last two pictures no one wants your autograph out here. In fact you cannot give it away, even if you also promise to come up and water the front lawn.

If you have done well, however, or Darryl Zanuck has been seen nodding to you in the alleyway outside a sound stage, you are mobbed. Not only that, but other celebrities rubberneck at you, muttering darkly: "just a flash in the pan."

Anyway, we got inside and were assigned to a dark corner, as Mr. Morrison does not want words to get around that he caters to Senators and newspaper reporters. Mr. Magnuson, who is only 42 although he is his state's senior senator, rubbered around like a movie mag fan, expressing great astonishment that Rosalind Russell looked just like Rosalind Russell.

Well—and now comes the part which may strain your credulity, but is gospel truth, so help me—we had been seated in the expensive gloom about 10 minutes when a strange dame galloped over and threw her arms around the distinguished solon's neck.

"Why Georgie!" she cried.

Sen. Magnuson disentangled himself, smelling heavily of perfume, and stammered there must be some mistake.

The doll stared at him—then her alabaster jaw dropped. "Oh gracious!" she gasped. "I thought you were Georgie Jessel!"

INCIDENTALLY, there is a move afoot to pry Mr. Magnuson out of the Senate. His best friend wants his job

Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington was a Senator until he was talked into running for Governor. Now he has become tired of being Governor and wants to be a Senator again.

Unfortunately there is no such job open right now. Mr. Magnuson's term does not expire until 1951 and that of his Republican confrere, Sen. Harry P. Cain, carries to 1953.

So Gov. Wallgren went to President Truman recently with this proposition: That the President appoint Mr. Magnuson to the U. S. circuit court, and that Gov. Wallgren then appoint himself to fill out Mr. Magnuson's unexpired term!

Up to now Sen. Magnuson has proved recalcitrant. "I don't think I want to be a judge," he demurs. "I'm too young to do that much sitting."

IT MUST BE fascinating to work in the Department of State and have to keep track of the various titles. In case the following puts a strain on your credence I direct you to the June, 1947, issue of the Congressional directory. You will find listed therein an Assistant Secretary of State; a Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State and—hold onto your hat!—an Assistant to the Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State.

The next thing we know, some vagrant is going to tell the magistrate that he is really a diplomat, being an assistant helper to a special assistant helper to an assistant bum's helper to an assistant bum to a bum.

Any questions?

Evening Weddings Formal, Informal

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

My son and his bride-elect are planning to have a simple church wedding in the evening . . . they plan to wear street clothes. I maintain that evening weddings should be formal. Which is proper? PERPLEXED.

An evening wedding, like a daytime wedding, may be either formal or informal. It is correct for your son's bride-elect to have a simple, informal church wedding in the evening.

ELIZABETH ANN BURGESS

A VARIETY OF colleges and interests was represented among the debutantes attending the debut luncheon of Elizabeth Ann Burgess of West Newton at the Algonquin Club yesterday.

The hostess herself has just returned from vacationing at Wolfeboro, N. H., after completing 150 hours of volunteer work at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and will attend Penn Hall Junior College. One of the most excited guests was Roddy Langmaid of Marblehead who sails from New York tomorrow night on the Mauretania to attend school in Switzerland. She wore a black dress with jewelled musical notes pinned to the bodice

Peggy Baker of Weston, just able to get around without crutches after a skiing accident eight months ago, came to the luncheon with Anne Sunonds who has just recovered from a horseback riding accident. Anne was in a cast when she received her diploma from Brimmer-May last spring. Martha Palmer of West Newton leaves Sunday to study home economics at Cornell. She came to the luncheon with her neighbor Anne Shepard who is going to Hollins College in Virginia.

Marcia Rees, a petite blonde in a royal blue velveteen suit and flowered halo, was telling her friends she leaves Tuesday for Briarcliff. Also attending were Patricia Munro who is headed for Barmore Junior College in New York, Patricia Burke and June Knapp who came up from West Harwich together.

A CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE prevailed at the gay debut dance for Roselle Mary Rice, Lillian Russell and Joan Buttrick at the Copley Plaza last evening. Games of chance, bowling, ring toss and a fortune teller kept the young guests in a whirl between dances. And for the midnight supper in the ballroom Mrs Arthur Beale of Chestnut st. designed artistic pink and mauve satin table cloths with deep gathered skirts and centerpieces of smilax and pink and lavender flowers. The balcony boxes were festooned with ropes of smilax and pink satin bows.

Roselle wore for her debut a gown of white mousseline de soie with silver sequin design. Lillian chose pink crepe with rhinestones and net trimming and Joan a periwinkle blue net gown with silver underskirt The ball was given by their parents, Mr. and Mrs Benjamin M. Rice, Mrs. Otis T. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Buttrick.

JVA Members In Dance Festival

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 17, at the Eastern States Exposition, West Springfield, 4-H boys and girls from six New England states including Junior Victory Army members, will dance on the green of the famed old Storrowton village

Planning to participate in this old fashioned square dance festival are more than 300 club members exhibiting at the Exposition 4-H Roundup.

Open house will be extended on the Storrowton village common for the Exposition visitors watching the spectacle, scheduled to begin at 7:30

Caller for the evening's program is Al Brundage, former 4-H club member from Danbury, Ct., selected as champion New England caller in 1942. Brundage will bring his own orchestra for the dance.

In addition to dancing on the Storrowton green, demonstration square dances will be conducted daily from 4 to 5 p. m. in the Camp Vail exhibit building during Exposition Week, Sept. 14 through 20.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped in your letter.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

NOW THAT DAVID LILIENTHAL'S Atomic Energy Commission has gone into the isotope business, using the frightening word "cancer" for public relations acceptance, I thought it a favorable moment to look over some wisdom on the atom.

The remarks which I cull were made in 1945 and 1946. In the heat of political battle, politicians make campaign statements which nobody takes seriously, not even the makers, but scientists are supposed to be objective persons who devote their lives to the search for truth. Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, one of the best of the lot, testifying before Congress, said:

". . . I don't know anything about the life of Russia, but if I were a Russian scientist and had this thing pulled as it was pulled, if I lived in a country which has just recently become one of the great powers and is very power sensitive and which has always prided itself on its science and on its technology, I would say: 'Boys, we had better get to it,' I think they will."

I DO NOT KNOW whether Dr. Oppenheimer expected them to go to it by science or theft. To date, the only evidence is theft. Dr. Vannevar Bush went Freudian and told the members of Congress:

". . . One fear that I have is that someone, thinking that he had a new idea on this subject, might start experiments in an attic with the idea that he would develop a new commercial process, and the result might be that he developed so much radioactive energy from this fission process that he would sterilize, perhaps, all of the passers-by. That is entirely possible."

DR. LEO SZILARD made this point:

"With reference to secrets, let me say that clearly the biggest secret was given away with the use of the atomic bomb, because knowing that such a bomb can be made is half of the secret . . ."

The sage Albert Einstein pronounced:

"We shall not have the secret very long. I know it is argued that no other country has money enough to spend on the development of the atomic bomb, and this fact assures us the secret for a long time. It is a mistake often made in this country to measure things by the amount of money they cost. But other countries which had the materials and the men can apply them to the work of developing atomic power if they care to do so. For men and materials and the decision to to use them, and not money, are all that is needed."

THAT HAS NOT turned out to be true, for in spite of everything the sage said, the Russians have not produced a bomb. They have only produced a veto. Dr. Harold C. Urey, who seems to be the politician among scientists, said:

". . . Atomic bombs must not be made by any country, and they must not be stored any place in the world if we are to have any feeling of security in this or any other country on this all-too-small planet. We are making bombs and storing them and are thus a threat to other countries and are guilty of beginning the atomic armament race. If continued, it will lead to dire disaster."

Further, he said:

"Unless we can devise some plan to prevent the manufacture of atomic bombs we shall live in constant fear of sudden and violent death. A world of vast fear and apprehension will be our lot and that of our children."

YOU NOTICE how everybody walks about quaking over the atomic bomb? In fact, most of the human race is no more conscious of its existence than they are of the microbes that fly through the air. Fear is not a normal characteristic of man; were it, he would never have experimented with berries or oysters or fire. Man is courageous and resilient and takes what comes in his stride.

The scientists apparently frightened themselves more than they did anyone else. Max Eastman put the case against the scared scientists so wisely:

"To surrender any fighting advantage to the acknowledged leader of a movement pledged to overthrow our government and destroy our liberty would be an act of disloyalty in a moral sense, even if performed by the government itself . . ."

San Carlo Set For 37th Tour

Nicholas Resciano, conductor of the San Carlo Opera Company, which will inaugurate its 37th annual transcontinental tour in Boston on Sunday evening, September 28, at the Opera House, has been associate conductor of the Chicago Opera Company during the two years which elapsed since Mr. Resciano was presented in Boston by Fortune Gallo.

The Boston season of eight performances — seven evenings and one matinee — from Sunday evening, September 28, through Saturday evening, October 4, will present the following operas:

"Aida," on Sunday; "Madame Butterfly," Monday; "Carmen," Tuesday; "La Traviata," Wednesday; "Rigoletto," Thursday; the twin-bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" followed by "Pagliacci," Friday; "Faust" on Saturday afternoon, and at night "Il Trovatore" will close the season.

Selma Kaye, dramatic soprano who will sing the title role in "Aida," made her first success on the stage of Radio City Music Hall when she was 19. She was a featured soloist in the stage shows of that theater for several years, until she was engaged by the San Carlo Opera for seasons in Chicago and in New York.

Two seasons ago, Claudia Cassidy, Chicago critic, commented: "the glory of that voice, glistening, spectacular in range and volume —is going to explode over opera some of these days with international impact."

VICTOR MATURE, who plays the finest acting role of his career in "Kiss of Death," the suspenseful film held over at the RKO-Boston.

Won't Move Bed To Fit School Law

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 11 (AP)—Leto Streiff, whose house is astride the Madison-St. Clair County line, won't move his bed from the south side to the north side of his farmhouse so his children can go to a Madison County school.

The Illinois farmer was notified yesterday that a state law says the place where the head of a household sleeps is the predominant factor in locating his domicile, and that he would have to sleep in Madison County if he wanted his children to change schools.

The Streiff children, aged 6 to 11, started the new term in St Clair County but Streiff wanted the change because the other school operates a school bus. But his house, he insists, hasn't the right kind of sleeping quarters on its north side.

Martha of Norway In Hub Hospital

Crown Princess Martha of Norway today began a series of treatments at the Massachusetts General Hospital for a back ailment suffered several years ago while engaged in sports.

The princess arrived at Logan Airport with Crown Prince Olav and, after picture taking, was whisked away in care of a guard from the State Dept. and an escort of Boston police.

First to greet them here was Dr. Marius N. Smith-Peterson, famed Norwegian-American surgeon, who has the princess as his patient.

Rodgers, Hammerstein Have Another Hit in 'Allegro'

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

Oh, Mr. Hammerstein, Oh, Mr. Rodgers . . . you've gone and done it again! With "Allegro," which opened to a critical but delighted audience last night at the Colonial, you've given the Theater Guild and the theater-going public another hit.

Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II, gave us the music and lyrics for "Oklahoma," and "Carousel," those terrific hits still on Broadway; then they boldly entered the producers' ranks, and in quick succession scored with "Annie Get Your Gun," "I Remember Mamma," "Happy Birthday" and "John Loves Mary." So, despite all the auspicious auguries, it seemed to be tempting fate for them to write not only the music (Rodgers) and lyrics (Hammerstein) but also the book for "Allegro."

They have once again given the theater a new kind of musical. "Allegro" is no musical comedy, no operetta, no play with incidental music. It is, however, a play and a musical combined in a new and challenging form. The book is no flimsy framework to serve as a background for song, dance and pulchritude. Nor are the songs written with the hit parade in mind, fitted forcibly into the plot.

SERIOUS DRAMA

"Allegro" is a serious drama, in which the characters are drawn and acted with sincerity. And the splendid score, the wonderful choral singing and recitation, the superb ballets, are all skillfully fused with the [illegible] It is an exciting contribu[illegible] the theater.

Much of the [illegible] must go to Agnes De Mille, who has done more for ballet than any choreographer of our time; in "Allegro," Miss De Mille not only contrived the dances, but supervised the entire production.

In this observer's opinion, the children-at-play ballet, somewhat reminiscent of the one in "Carousel," is somewhat too long, and could be cut to advantage. The show runs until 11:45, so it is certain to be edited. The cutting should come in the first half, which also needs a lively song or number. It is slightly monotonous in key. The second half, however, makes up for that.

SCORE IS TOPS

The score is lovely. Whether the songs will be juke-box favorites is a moot question, but several of them are beautiful and might well be future favorites. For popularity, we'd pick "A Feller Needs A Girl," "The Gentleman Is a Dope" (almost certain) and a ballad, beautifully sung by Annamary Dickey, "Come Home, Son, Come Home."

As for the cast, the Guild is to be congratulated. John Battles as Joseph Taylor, Jr., the central figure of the play . . . it is the life story of a boy who grew up to be a doctor like his dad, married, found success but not happiness, and finally went home to start again . . . is a fine actor as well as a good tenor. Roberta Jonay as his sweetheart and wife sings, dances and acts with equal facility. It is impossible to mention them all, but William Ching, Miss Dickey, ballerina Katheryn Lee, John Conte, Lisa Kirk and in his one short scene, Stephen Chase, are all wonderful. Congratulations, Mr. R. and Mr. H.

Seat Sale Starts For 'Alice' Now

Seats go on sale today at the box office of the Boston Opera House for the two-week engagement of Eva Le Gallienne's production of "Alice in Wonderland" starting Tuesday evening, Sept. 16.

Miss Le Gallienne, Margaret Webster and Bambi Linn are co-starred in "Alice in Wonderland," which has been adapted by Miss Le Gallienne and Florida Friebus from the stories of Lewis Carroll. The play will be presented by Rita Hassan and the American Repertory Theater.

"Alice in Wonderland" has an original musical score by Richard Addinsell. Its settings, costumes, marionettes and masks have been based on the Tenniel drawings.

VICTORY FOR MEN

DETROIT, Sept. 11 (INS)—Dr. Martha Ericson presented scientific evidence today to back up the age-old men's thesis that "Women talk too much."

Dr. Ericson, of the Merrill-Palmer School at Detroit, reported to the American Psychological Ass'n National Convention here on experiments with 30 children, from 6 to 13 years old. She said:

"One of the most striking findings—probably known to man and boy for some time—is that girls talk too much."

TARZAN ACT FAILS

While attempting a "Tarzan Swing" on a rope suspended from a tree in woods off Spring lane, Stoneham, Louis Martin, Jr., 14, of Brackett st., Stoneham, fell and broke both arms.

His act was intended to be the star attraction of a juvenile circus to be presented after school next Tuesday.

The mishap forced cancellation of the circus as none of the other youngsters showed any interest in taking over the Tarzan role.

British Coal Strike Broken

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Strikers in the Grimethorpe coal mine voted unanimously today to return to work Monday, breaking the back of a five-week old unauthorized coal strike that took 60,000 workers out of Yorkshire pits.

The strike developed after the National Union of Mine Workers and the National Coal Board, which operates the nationalized mines, asked Grimethorpe workers to work a larger "stint"—two feet more of coal face—to boost production.

Cambridge Filter Fire Misses Big Gas Tank

Fire broke out in the Third st. plant of the Cambridge Gas Light Co. today, in an oil filter located onl 25 feet from a 3,000,000 cubic foot gas storage tank.

Heavy black smoke covered the area giving rise to false rumors that the tank was aflame, but fire officials said the blaze was confined to wooden baffles in the filter, which was being installed. The flame were believed to have been caused by sparks from a welding torch.

Makeshift Lights Help Flier Land

With the aid of firemen's searchlights and auto headlights, Kenneth Tucker, 23, of North Main st., Leominster, an amateur aviator, made a forced night landing in Peach st., South Braintree, and escaped unhurt.

The plane, which struck a tree and spun violently before it dropped to the pavement, was badly damaged. Both wings were twisted and the landing gear was destroyed.

Tucker was attempting to set the light craft down in a field with the aid of the makeshift lighting when a wing caught in the tree

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Make Eyes Look Larger

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE WOLF certainly whistled a mouthful in "the better to see you with, my dear" when Red Riding Hood took notice of his "oh, what big eyes you have." For great big provocative cup-and-saucer eyes are not only to see with . . . but to be seen with.

What beauty care could possibly be more important than that of your eyes for the glance direct or indirect? When one is intelligent about it . . . the result will be one of the greatest beauty assets a woman can have . . . beautiful eyes. Don't sell your great, big beauty chance short!

USE WITH CARE

Your eyes can look larger, deeper, more expressive when you use eye makeup knowingly . . . not in overdoses of strange, weird exhibitionism . . . but in carefully prescribed, deftly applied enhancement. Never minimize the importance of providing them with all the glamor in your power . . . and here's more power to you!

Your lashes will seem so much darker, longer, more luxuriant after a swish of far-famed waterproof mascara. You'll feel so very confident of your command . . . your power to attract and hold. This cream mascara made of oils that are impervious to water . . . won't run or smudge, or betray you in any way . . . whether you walk in the sun, bathe in the surf, shower or if "smoke gets in your eyes" . . . is one of the supreme achievements in eye makeup. In black, blue or brown . . . it is a million dollars worth of glamor . . . yours for only $1 the package.

DISCREET CREAM

If you still cling to the conservative attitude of "no mascara, too theatrical" . . . pamper your conservatism with a discreet eyelash cream and darkener . . . a very able substitute, by the way, for mascara . . . since it, too, makes the lashes look dark, silky and lovelier. Use it, also to groom your eyebrows into a graceful, clear-cut line. It will help to enhance the orbs in a soft, subtle way.

And if you really want to be a smart thing . . . help yourself to a beauty secret from the Orient via a drop of gleaming herbal eyelid oil for that artful sheen as you lower, lower, lower your eyes slowly with all the devastating implication of an alluring creation. Not only will it provide day-long protection for your eyelids, giving them a youthful sheen . . . but make your eyes look like twinkling stars at night.

Here is a program, then, for dramatized eyes . . . beauty props to make you the assured personality every woman should be. And it goes without saying you'll be the better to see for all the effort you take in making yourself seen.

For the names of these eye-glamor items, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

MORE BEAUTIFUL than ever is interesting-looking Warner star Joan Crawford, whose facial attraction is . . . in no small measure . . . due to her intriguing eyes. Early in her career . . . Joan learned about the importance of eye makeup . . . a lesson she's applied well and charmingly to her own penetrating, but soulful, orbs. Let's take a page from a beauty's book, shall we?

FOR THE POSTWAR renaissance of night-time glitter, Nettie Arnheimer's black seal evening coat is a lavish presentation of regal elegance. Pointed revers, fully-flared skirt, softly shirred pockets, bellowed sleeves, narrowed cuff and rhinestone buttons at waist and wrist add up to a unique design and a most unusual use of seal for this or any other season.—R. Readers Might Help Out

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A NUMBER OF LETTERS recently, from young men, have asked how a chap can meet a girl he just happens to see on the street and thinks he would like to know. Apparently, those who have written about this matter have been unlucky enough to be attracted to girls obviously of a type who would make short work of men trying to pick them up. So what my correspondents want to know is how they can scrape up an acquaintance without running the risk of being repulsed.

To date, my own suggestions to these inquiries have been that they try to locate a mutual friend through whom an introduction to the girl may be brought about, or they might try and find out what church the girl attended and start going there themselves. In this way, they would certainly make acquaintances who would be able to introduce them.

There must be other good ways, however, that some young men have been ingenious enough to devise, and I would like to hear about them. In the meantime, let us consider the sad story of one young man who made definately the wrong approach to this particular problem.

He writes me:

"I am in love with a girl whose name I do not even know. I first saw her about a year ago and, ever since then, I've tried to become acquainted with her without success.

"After failing to secure a conventional introduction, I decided to approach her and introduce myself. I had a little speech all memorized in which I planned to say that I hoped she wouldn't think I was being too forward; that I realized this was not the proper way to make an acquaintence, but that I had been wanting to know her since the first time I saw her.

"However, when I approached her, instead of making my speech, I lost my nerve and in a demanding way asked whether I was wasting my time trying to know her. Naturally, I got the brush-off."

"A few weeks later, I apologized to her for the unpleasant incident and she said it was quite all right. Later, I approached her once more, and this time she told me she had a boy friend and that she was not a pick-up.

"Is it wrong for me to want to know this girl, even though she has a boy friend?"

Adapt Styles to Figure

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

SOME women are slaves to the vagaries of fashion; without discrimination they grab at each new trend and hug it to themselves just as if the style of the moment were a more important thing than a woman's individuality. They are the women who, in a season of large, bulky hats, will wear a large, bulky hat even if it makes them look like a sideshow attraction.

Fashion may be an imperious woman but she is no dictator. Fashion is a leader who points the way. No one expects fashion to be so autocratic that it creates a uniform costume to be worn unvaried by one and all.

There are as many variations and adaptions to every new style as there are women to wear them. The small, delicately-proportioned woman, for instance, just isn't made for the breadth and bulk of the new silhouette in its unadulterated form. She must modify the new styles to suit her figure. Her dress will be new in line but not exaggerated. Her hat, gloves and bag will perhaps be larger than they were a season ago but they will be in proportion to the rest of her costume.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

MAKE IT GENERAL! Group conversation should be general. For this reason it's wrong to chatter of fashions, nylons, shopping, and completely ignore the one male present! So, too, when men predominate the conversation they should not leave the one woman present "out in the cold!"

Fresh Foods Still Available

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

ENTERTAINING at home takes on a new lease of life in the early fall. Vacationers are home and eager to talk about their experiences. A group luncheon offers good food and much conversation.

Because it's early in the entertaining season, planning a party menu is more of an adventure and less of an attempt to rival or compete with the previous luncheons served to the club or group.

LUNCHEON MENU

Chilled Melon Slices
(Honeydew or Honey Ball)
Ham with Potato Chips and
Green Vegetables en Casserole
Garden Slaw
Pocketbook Rolls
Butter or Margarine
Fresh Plum Jam
Peach Angel Coffee

Chill a thoroughly ripe melon. Cut into halves. Remove seeds and any membranes. Cut each quarter into thin slices. Overlap three or four slices on each glass serving plate. Pass powdered ginger for the epicures who will sprinkle a light dusting over the slices. Have wedges of fresh lemons or limes, too, especially if the melon is honeydew.

For the fresh garden slaw, combine young green cabbage, radishes, green peppers, and a small amount of tender, raw carrot. Chop the mixture fine. Sprinkle with salt—but lightly - add a little sugar, some vinegar and a little heavy sweet or sour cream. Mint flavored vinegar is excellent if you omit the sour cream.

PEACH ANGEL

Peace angel is deliciously good. Bake an angel food cake, either in a tubular pan or use half your receipe and bake in a loaf pan. When the cake is cool hollow it, leaving a shell about an inch thick. Plug the hole at the bottom if you have baked the cake in a tubular pan. Slice sweet ripe peaches and put through a sieve. Add sugar and a drop or two of almond extract to the puree. Whip some heavy cream. Sweeten lightly, and if desired, give a rosy tint by adding a tablespoon or so of red raspberry juice. Fold in the peach puree and fill the hollow shell. Chill thoroughly. At serving time put whipped cream and sliced peaches on top. Serve at the table on your prettiest dessert plates.

ANGEL CAKE

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 cup egg whites (8 or 9)
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1¼ cups sifted sugar
¾ tsp. vanilla extract
¼ tsp. almond extract

Sift flour 3 times. Beat egg whites and salt. When foamy, add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, a small amount at a time. Fold in vanilla and almond extracts. Fold in flour, sifting a small amount at a time over mixture. Bake in ungreased 10-inch tube pan in slow oven (325 deg. F.) about 1 hour. Remove pan from oven and invert 1 hour before removing cake. Makes 1 large cake.

Sain Sets Sights On 20th Victory Against Pirates

By HUCK FINNEGAN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 11—Johnny Sain tried to notch his 20th victory in the first game of the Braves-Pirates double-header today, and by nightfall he may be the first Braves' pitcher since Dick Rudolph (1914-15) to win 20 games in successive years. (Lou Perini remained in Cincinnati to attend the Brooks-Cards-Braves World Series conference, Braves' first invitation since '16.)

"I broke in with the Braves in '20, and Rudolph was still with them," said Coach Johnny Cooney on the way over from Cincinnati. Rudolph, Hank Gowdy, Rabbit Maranville and Manager Stallings were holdovers from the 1914 championship club, but all soon were on their way.

Tony Boeckel played third, Maranville short, Walter Holke first (he led the club in RBI's with 64) but Cooney couldn't recall whether Horace Ford or a fellow named Pick was at second that year. However, he did know that Eddie Eayers, Rabbit Powell and Walton Cruise played the outfield, that Mickey O'Neill worked with Gowdy behind the bat, and that Jack Watson, Jack Scott, Dana Fillingim were on the pitching staff with Rudolph.

Cooney was an 18-year-old southpaw pitcher then "but I never won more than 14 games in any one season for the Braves," he said, "and I'd like to see Spahn as well as Sain hit the 20 mark."

"Sometimes you do and sometimes you don't," commented Buck Walters before the final Braves-Reds game which the Braves won 8-0 behind Clyde Shoun. It was Shoun's second successive shutout of the Reds, and he licked Blackwell in the bargain.

'You've Got to Have Luck to Win 20'

Walters spoke of Spahn in laudatory fashion, praising his pitching ability and his intelligence. "But you've got to have luck to win 20."

It would seem so. The first three games this writer saw Sain pitch he was chased from the mound; usually in the first inning. On the other hand he hasn't seen Spahn pitch anything but a top-notch game, yet he has yet to win his 18th.

Spahn was beaten by Brooklyn, 1-0, when Fernandez kicked a grounder at short. He lost another heartbreaker to the Giants recently and Tuesday's night 2-0 game to Walters.

"Tell him I know how it feels," said Walters. "One year I was 15-2 up to the All-Star game, and though I pitched just as well thereafter I had a time of it reaching the 20-mark. Look at Blackwell. He lost to the Giants 5-4, pitched three fine games thereafter. Might have won 20 instead of 16.

"One thing I've noticed," Walters said, "is that both Sain and Spahn help themselves while they're pitching. Spahn is always picking prospective runs off first base, while Sain always seems to be batting in runs. When a pitcher can do that something extra, it's money in the bank."

Shoun helped himself in his 8-0 victory over Blackwell-Peterson-Erautt-Hetki in the Cincinnati farewell game. His single to left opened the Braves' three-run seventh, an inning that not only clinched the game but saw Danny Litwhiler hit the longest home run made in Cincinnati (400 feet at least) since Jimmy Foxx blasted a titanic smash in an exhibition game between Red Sox and Reds in '41.

The game also saw Bob Elliott hit his 19th home run, this one to right field. All in all, the afternoon put the club in merry mood, and chances were bright today that Sain would gain victory No. 20. But Spahn, the perfectionist still, has three to go, though he seems to have more on the ball than Sain.

It's an humblin' game, this cricket.

13-9 Series Edge

Shoun now has a 5-2 record, three of his wins being over the Reds, against whom he stretched his scoreless inning streak to 18. He didn't let a man reach third, walked only one, fanned none . . . Culler (twice) and Elliott helped him in the field . . . Game started off as if the Braves didn't want it. Hopp took it easy rounding second on Rowell's single to right in the first inning and was caught at third. A moment later Rowell was nipped off second . . . Braves had only a 2-0 lead until that 3-run seventh. Then the Reds folded . . . Victory gave the Braves a 13-9 edge for the season. They hold a 12-8 edge over the Phils, have games to play with the six other clubs.

Blackwell left the game after Shoun's seventh inning single holding his back. It was announced he had pulled a muscle in his left shoulder blade . . . The Reds' stringbean has been getting his lumps since he was 18-2. He's won only three of his last nine starts . . . Torgeson was at first base, as predicted, didn't hit but didn't have to . . . F. McCormick wanted no part of that "batting championship" cabal and asked to alternate again with Torgy as he did before . . . Commissioner Chandler was at the game, witnessed by only 2491 paying patrons . . . Whether Rowell fields or throws poorly, he always hits well in Cincinnati . . . The Braves won't win the pennant, as Lou Perini knows, "but it feels nice to be invited to the World Series conference," as he admitted . . . First time in 31 years Kermit Wahl played third base in place of Grady Hatton because (1) Hatton needs to rest an ailing knee, and (2) Hatton doesn't hit lefties well.

Cards, Dodgers Lead Aces In Crucial Series Opener

This is it. The payoff series between pace-setting Brooklyn and fast-closing St. Louis opens tonight at Sportsman's Park with the Dodgers holding a shrinking 4½ game lead in the exciting National League pennant chase, according to the Associated Press. For all practical purposes the Cardinals must do or die in the current three-game set although the season does not end until Sept. 28. Winning two of three is almost a must for Eddie Dyer's Red Birds who count on a clean sweep to pull the Brooks back within reach.

HARRY "CAT" BRECHEEN
On Cards' Mound Tonight

Time is fast running out on the defending champs who now have only 19 games in which to make their bid. But they are favored by a schedule that calls for 12 of those 19 at home while the Dodgers must struggle through 12 of their 16 remaining contests on the road.

Brooklyn might be able to survive such a crushing blow as three straight setbacks because everything runs for the pace setter in the closing days of the season. However, Mgr. Burt Shotton has tried to manipulate his "thin" pitching staff with the idea of winning this all-important set from the Cards.

Only three games out front on the important losing side of the ledger, the Dodgers have nominated their top winning ace, Ralph Branca, to face Harry Brecheen in the opener. Branca, a 21-year-old righthander, has won 19 and lost 11 but he has lost three of his last five and failed to go the route in five of the last seven.

Brecheen, the "hero" of the Cards' upset 1946 World Series triumph with three wins, won his 15th game in his last out, a 13-inning thriller over Cincinnati. But The Cat has not been effective consistently since mid-July when he was hit on the left hand by a line drive off the bat of Boston's Mike McCormick.

Following Branca in Shotton's pitching routine will come Clyde King or Hank Behrman, the Pittsburgh turnback, with little Vic Lombardi, loser of Tuesday's toughie to Chicago, due to work Saturday in the only day game of the set. Dyer has indicated he will follow Brecheen with George Munger, a hot shot with a 14-4 record and four straight triumphs, and Murry Dickson in that order. Dickson's last effort was a shutout of the Phillies Tuesday night.

Shotton inserted Jackie Robinson in the cleanup spot yesterday at Chicago, indicating that he probably will do the same tonight. Robinson, who has batted second most of the year, rapped Cub pitching for two hits in the Brooks' 5-1 success.

Doubles by Dixie Walker and Spider Jorgensen, followed by Eddie Stanky's third homer of the year, actually sewed up the game, breaking a 1-1 tie in the seventh as Joe Hatten, with relief from Hugh Casey, tamed the Cubs for the seventh time while registering win No. 14. He has beaten the Phillies six times and Cincinnati once in his unique record.

The Cards banged out 14 hits off Dutch Leonard and Charley Schanz, scoring once each in the second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings after the Phils got to Al Brazle for an early run in the second for their only score in a 4-1 Cardinal triumph. It was Brazle's 12th win.

Marty Marion's triple scoring Ron Northey tied the score in the second and singles by Northey, Whitey Kurowski and Marion sent St. Louis out front in the fourth. Enos Slaughter drove home Nippy Jones in the fifth and Kurowski scored the final tally in the sixth when Harry Walker threw wide to the plate after catching Brazle's fly.

Mgr. Ben Chapman pulled an unusual stunt when he lifted Harry Walker, the league-leading hitter, for pinch hitter Schoolboy Rowe, a pitcher, in the ninth. (Rowe flied out).

RALPH BRANCA
Dodgers' Pitching Selection

Ralph Kiner, closing in on New York's Johnny Mize in the home run race, hit his 42nd and 43rd as Pittsburgh lost to the Giants, 3-2. Kiner now is only three behind Mize. Despite Kiner's blasts and a first-inning homer by the Giants' Lloyd Gearhart, the game was won in the eighth on Willard Marshall's single scoring Buddy Kerr. It was an 18th triumph for rookie Larry Jansem.

The Yankees, stung by insinuations that they are backing into the American League flag, dumped Cleveland, 7-4 while Boston bowed to Detroit, 5-0, to increase their lead to 12½ games with 16 to go. Any combination of six New York wins or Boston defeats will clinch the pennant.

St. Louis got tight pitching from Fred Sanford and five runs in the seventh inning to trample the A's, 8-2, Walt Judnich and Jeff Heath homered for the Browns and Sam Chapman for the A's.

Walter Masterson stopped the White Sox with four hits to pick up his 14th win for Washington by a 3-1 score in a duel with Orval Grove whose five-hit effort was betrayed by shoddy fielding.

CRUCIAL NOW

The three-game Dodgers-Cardinals series starting at St. Louis tonight should tell the story. As things stand now, any combination of 14 Brooklyn wins or St. Louis defeats will decide the pennant in the Dodgers' favor. Should Brooklyn play .500 ball the rest of the way, winning 8 and losing 8 of its remaining games, the Cards still must win 15 of their remaining contests to take the flag.

The basic proposition for the Cards is this: For every game Brooklyn wins hereafter, St. Louis must win that number plus seven in order to take the flag.

Sox Unveil New Battery

Pitcher Ellis (Cot) Deal and Matt Batts, who a few days ago formed the battery for the Toronto International League club, were scheduled to make their big league debut today at Fenway Park.

Deal, selected by the Red Sox from the Toronto Leafs under terms of a working agreement, will pitch one game of a doubleheader for the Sox against the Cleveland Indians. He hails from Arapho, Okla.

Batts, who went south with the Sox and then was farmed to Toronto, played around here last season with the Sox Lynn farm in the New England League.

Dave Ferriss, making his first start since he was spiked by a teammate three weeks ago, was down to pitch the other game for the Sox.

The Indans, in fourth place only two games in back of the Sox, were expected to use "No Hit" Don Black and Allen Gettel.

The Sox will have to do well these last few days to keep ahead of the Indians and the third place Detroit Tigers who knocked them off 5-0 yesterday.

Freddie Hutchinson pitched a great ball game as he shut out the Sox on eight hits, keeping Ted Williams hitless in the process. The Bengals got seven of their nine hits and all but one of their runs in less than three innings off Sox starter, and loser, Earl (Lefty) Johnson.

Any combination of six Yankee victories and six Boston losses will clinch the American League pennant for the New Yorkers.

ANOTHER YEAR

The star pitcher on the Deer Island (House of Correction) baseball team was unwillingly signed to another one year contract.

Gennaro Di Nitto, 28, of Cambridge, wanted an unconditional release at the end of the current season, or term.

Superior Court Judge Eugene A. Hudson closed the deal when a jury decided that Di Nitto wasn't playing the game, but was trying to flee the team when he was found hiding in a coal bin on the other side of the island from the ball field.

N. E. Loop Cup Playoffs Move To Manchester

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 11 (AP)—If the two clubs follow the pattern set in the first three games, it will be the Manchester Giants' turn to defeat the Nashua Dodgers tonight in the fourth game of the best of seven series for the New England league's Governor Cup

Nashua has a two to one edge in games played so far, having won its second last night at home by a 5-2 score as first sacker Lou Ruchser drove in three runs, two on a seventh inning homer.

Ruchser was rewarded with a purse of $250 collected by the more appreciative of the 4414 paid fans.

Both of the Dodgers' victories have been fashioned at Nashua and the single triumph by the Giants was in Manchester.

The Giants got three on with none out in the ninth but were choked off after scoring once.

SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

NORTHFIELD, Vt.—Four reserves have shown considerable improvement in the few days that Norwich football squad has been practicing and are threatening to displace boys earmarked for starting assignments. They are halfback Bob Kennedy of Lynn, Mass., Jim Glabicky, an end also of Lynn, lineman Chris Byron of Buzzards Bay, Moss., and Bob Dorman, who has been shifted from end to tackle.

HORSEMEN RALLY TO EYELESS BOY CAUSE

DETROIT, Sept. 11 (AP)—Detroit horsemen have agreed on an extra race on the season's last card Saturday for 10-year-old Richard Hinson of Royal Oak.

Richard lost an eye Sept. 2 when he suffered a blow or kick in the face as he stooped to peek under a sideshow tent to view a two-headed calf at the Michigan State Fair.

Clarence (King) Lehr, chairman of the Detroit Racing Ass'n, was touched by Richard's plight and conceived a plan to run an extra race on Saturday's closing card, the proceeds going to the boy. Normally, the track may expect about $5000 as its share of a single Saturday race.

Green Line Looks Good

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 11 (INS)—The tackle situation looked good today at Dartmouth. Capt Jud Hanigan, Carl Ward, Steve Hardigan and Joe Sardella nearly wrecked a couple of backfields working out on a pass attack.

They broke through secondary defenses easily. Johnny Dell Isola, a sophomore guard, also stood out.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 11 (INS)—Paul Flick presented a pleasant problem today for Brown's coaching staff. He looked equally good in workouts at tackle and at end.

WINOOSKI PARK, Vt., Sept. 11 (INS)—St. Michael's holds its first scrimmage today with four complete teams to take part.

Three members were on the hospital list, Clem Ferris, guard from Pittsfield, Mass, guard Jean Verneau, of Biddeford, Me., and tackle Frank Cunningham, of Revere, Mass. None was injured seriously.

MIDDLEBURY, Sept. 11 (INS)—Mile Tanes, guard, and halfback Red Ellias, of Middlebury College, were on the sidelines today because of injuries suffered in scrimmage. They were the most seriously hurt in the drill that took a heavy toll in bruises and bumps.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 11 (INS)—Bates had an old familiar hand working today in the blocking back position. Mike Melody, of Milton, Mass., who was twice wounded in the war, returned to college as a senior. He was an outstanding blocking back prior to his entry into service.

WATERVILLE, Me., Sept. 11 (INS)—Two brothers are making bids for line positions on the Colby football team. They are Bob and Don Jacobs of Gardiner. Both are conceded a chance of landing first-string berths.

BRUNSWICK, Me., Sept. 11 (INS)—Contact work to improve ragged blocking and tackling was on tap today for a bruised Bowdoin squad. Backs Jim Pierce and Bobby Small, and end Bud Smethurst were sidelined for the remainder of the week with injuries.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Sept. 11 (INS)—Charley White and John Templeton were getting special attention today as the search to fill the vacancies created at the end positions by graduation plagued the Williams team. White was on the junior varsity last year and Templeton was a substitute.

AMHERST, Sept. 11 (INS)—Lew Hammond of Garden City, N. Y., and Ed Lonczak, of Chicopee, were the passing aces today of the Amherst College team. Hammond appeared back in his classy 1946 style, while Lonczak showed good control during the Jeffs air drills.

Jones Named Toastmaster

Victor O. Jones, night managing editor of the Boston Globe, was named today toastmaster of the Duffy Lewis testimonial dinner to be held Sept. 22.

Some of the biggest names in baseball are expected to grace the head table for the dinner in honor of the traveling secretary of the Boston Braves and member of the great 1916 Boston Red Sox outfield of Lewis, Tris Speaker and Harry Hooper.

Browns in Spotlight

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—A couple of ball blasters named Brown—Tom, Jr., of San Francisco and Geoff of Australia—held the spotlight today in the National tennis championships.

The two sluggers, who might very well meet in singles in next year's Davis Cup challenge round, were down to go five hard sets, or less, in the stadium with the prize one of eight quarter-final berths in the title event.

Tom Jr. suddenly has shown signs of catching fire and the experts thought it extremely doubtful that Geoff, a non-playing member of this year's Aussie cup team, would be able to cool off the temperamental coast star.

Kramer who dropped only 10 games in sailing through his first two matches, faced another apparently easy assignment today against Jimmy Brink of Seattle.

One of the best matches on the day's docket was promised in the fourth-rounder between the two inveterate base-liners, Dinny Pails of Australia and little Pancho Segura of Ecuador.

John Bromwich of Australia, the No. 1 seeded alien, faced a rugged opponent in young Eddie Moylan. Frankie Parker, still longing to win back the big crown he held in '44 and '45, was paired against the winner of a match between Victor Seixas and Billy Sidewell.

Two women's quarter-finals were on tap today, and one of them between Mrs. Patricia C. Todd and Mrs. Nancy Bolton of Australia, promised some close tennis. In the other match, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills figured to score rather handily over Dorothy Head of Alameda, Cal.

Torza Lone New Englander in National Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal., Sept. 11 (AP)—With defending champion Ted Bishop and the pre-tournament favorite, Frank Stranahan, rudely bounced out of the running, sixteen survivors of hectic third and fourth round play headed into two more sudden-death tours today in quest of the U. S. National Amateur links championship. Felice Torza of Wethersfield, Ct., was the lone New Englander remaining in play.

Still very much in the bitter chase were such big name challengers as Marvin H. "Bud" Ward, 1939 and 1941 winner; Dick Chapman, the 1940 champion, Walker Cup player Skee Riegel, metropolitan champion Frank Strafaci and Johnny Dawson.

Yesterday's galleries braved grey skies, drifting fog and a late afternoon wind that whipped over the Monterey Peninsula and brought red noses and chilly feet, but they were rewarded by several touches of excitement that helped raise body temperatures.

Kocsis and McCormick in the third round provided the opening thrill as they battled to 20 holes before McCormick, whose beautiful eagle on the 14th put him back in the running, succumbed to the steady game of the sturdy Michigan ace.

And then came Dawson, a slender, sentimental favorite who looks—and plays—much younger than his 44 years, and athletic, hard working Stranahan, long since established as the man to beat in this 47th chapter of the U. S. amateur.

Dawson, who was quietly kept on the sidelines of the national by the U. S. Golf Ass'n from 1929 until 1946 because of his connection with a sporting goods house, meanwhile competing in and winning numerous sectional and local amateur events as the good U. S. G. A. glanced elsewhere, came to the 18th green, trailing, one down.

Then it happened, Stranahan, the cool, methodical one, missed a putt that measured less than two feet. The match was all square. They halved the 19th, and on the 20th dapper John brought it to a dramatic end with an eight-iron shot of 40 feet that scored an eagle three.

There were other highlights. Johny Goodman, who gained prominence in 1929 by defeating Bobby Jones in the first round here at Pebble Beach, and then annexed the title in 1937, met defeat at the hands of Strafaci, 3 and 2, in the fourth round, and Chapman moved on by defeating John Daniel of Spokane, 2 and 1, and Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., 3 and 1.

But Ward, still hampered by a bad cold, won, 3 and 2, over Martin Stanovich of San Francisco, and over youthful Mac Gregor Hunter of Los Angeles, 2 and 1.

HEARST CHAMP VS. BISHOP CONQUEROR

Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, Hearst national junior champion, is one of the 16 survivors in the national amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach, Cal. He is scheduled to play Charles "Chuck" Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., today in the quarterfinal round. Kocsis eliminated defending champion Ted Bishop yesterday.

NATIONAL PAIRINGS

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal., Sept. 11 (AP)—Pairings for the fifth round of the U. S. national amateur golf championship today:

Fitzgerald, Yale Back, Out With Rib Injury

WASHINGTON, Ct., Sept. 11 (AP)—Art Fitzgerald, former reserve Notre Dame back who came to Yale during the war as a naval student and remained after his separation from the service, has joined backfield mates Dan Wagster and Bill Connelly on the Eli injured list.

Fitzgerald received a rib injury which Dr. Robert B. Seabury, team physician, said would probably keep him out of the Elis opener with Kings Point

Woman's Catch Ties Ruppert Fish Tourney

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Bearing out the popularity of striped bass fishing in this area, George Ruppert, sponsor of the annual angling contest carrying his name, makes this statement: "The most sought-after gamefish in northern waters, especially by surf casters, is the striper."

As a matter of fact, the majority of entries this season in the Ruppert affair have been this species. This is amazing, for sailfish hitherto drew two to three times more than other classifications. All bass entered are Citation catches, weighing 20 pounds or better.

The two leaders at this writing each tipped the scales at 52 pounds, respectively. One was hooked by Mrs. Philip C. Barney, of Farmington, Ct., from a boat, in waters around Martha's Vineyard. The other "bull" was caught by Donald R. Shaw, of Greenwich, Ct., at Cuttyhunk.

Incidentally, it is believed that Mrs. Barney's striper is the largest ever taken by a woman in the history of the sport.

Of course, Bob Linton, Rhode Island angler landed a 55¼-pound bass—a new record for 9-thread, last month, and his entry will doubtless be included in the next batch of Ruppert contestants.

ANGLING ANGLES: The big Martha's Vineyard Derby will get under way next Monday, running until Oct. 15, and offering thousands of dollars' worth of prizes. At the moment, the linesiders are hitting in fine fashion off famed Squibnocket Beach, the only "hot spot" now producing . . . Battling blue fish are also providing action aplenty in Vineyard waters . . . Bob Temple has hit the biggest blue so far, a 4-pound, 14 ounce specimen, at Oak Bluffs . . . Squeteague are teeming through the waves, as well.

In answer to a recent query, very few striped bass have been taken from the Parker river this year. Many have tried their luck in this stream, however, and we observed several hopeful anglers, while in the vicinity last week . . . "Bunny" Fernald, who operates the boat and bait station near the Route 1A bridge, reports that business has held up well despite the "striper slump."

CLUB CHATTER: Tonight's program for the fall meeting of the Danvers Fish and Game Club will consist of color films and a talk by Martin Bovey, at the Masonic Temple . . . Mr. Bovey is noted for his excellent movies, which will depict trout fishing adventures, duck shooting, Hungarian patridge gunning in the Rockies, dogs in action, quail, and the like.

A group of local vets, all interested in hunting and fishing, are contemplating forming a new rod and gun club . . . "Even if the birds may be scarce this fall, there'll be plenty of 'ruptured ducks' in our outfit," said one ex-GI.

All N. U. Backs Pass Threats

The forward pass was something of a secret weapon at Northeastern last year, but Coach Johnny Grinnell intends to use it much more frequently in the coming campaign. The Huskies are spending at least half an hour a night on aerial tactics.

"We had to spend so much time installing the T running attack," explains Grinnell, "that we couldn't perfect our passing last year. Now that the men have learned the fundamentals of the running plays, we can afford to work on embellishments."

The three top quarterbacks—John Conroy, Mike Voulopolous, and Jimmy Orphanos—have been doing most of the passing, but halfback Jim Douglas and fullback Bob McIntyre have both been throwing the ball well.

Don Kerrivan, hockey captain-elect from Wellesley, continues to look best on the receiving end, with George Keith and Dan Wormwood also promising good things in this department. With every member of the backfield a potential passer, the defenses will be kept honest.

The Huskies are planning a lengthy scrimmage for Saturday afternoon, during which Grinnell hopes to put his passing plans to a real test.

Furey Battles for BC Starting Berth

By LEO MONAHAN

six foot tackle candidate on the Boston Col ever to start in a bowl game, John Furey,

One of the few freshmen in history lege football team is waging a stiff battle for a starting berth on the current Eagle eleven. In '42 as a first man, Furey was a standout, winning the starting post in the Orange Bowl over veteran Joe Repko who is now in the professional ranks.

Pounds overweight when he returned to the Heights last year after service as a radio operator in the Army Air Force, Fury got off to a late start and lost his starting job to Ernie Stautner, an outstanding freshman. The likable Medford athlete worked in the construction gang at the Heights all summer and reported for training in the peak of condition, weighing a trim 207, and ready to battle for the first string post.

He was an all-scholastic at Medford High and attended Marianapolis before enrolling at B. C. A 24-year-old junior, Furey is married and awaiting the first addition to his family.

A savage blocker and tackler, he's one of the four Eagle athletes who gives promise of blossoming into one of the leading tackle units in the East this season. With Furey at tackle are Ernie Stautner, a standout performer who shows promise of rising to national honors, Ed King, a capable veteran campaigner, and John Kissell, also a member of the Orange Bowl team.

Competition has been brisk at tackle this year. Stautner appears to be a definite starter and Kissell has been working out with the first units for the past few days but Furey and King, a pair of competent veterans, still can't be counted out. All four figure to be bad news for the Eagles' opponents this year.

A "natural" from a box office standpoint, it's too bad that the fans won't be able to view the B.C.-Harvard scrimmage at Soldiers Field, Saturday . . . A game between these two elevens would draw close to 55,000 . . . The experience gathered from this scrimmage should be invaluable to both squads.

With secret practice sessions and hush-hush scrimmages it appears that enemy scouts may have to hire helicopters if they're to get a line on the current Eagle eleven . . . End Coach Dave Lucey has been drilling Ernie Stautner in kicking off . . . Either Stautner or Vic Palladino, who is expected back the end of the week when his wrenched knee heals, will probably kick off for B. C. this year . . . Palladino is also a capable place kicker . . . Some of the players who live at the Heights are complaining that the bells ringing in the Tower's clock keeps them awake nights . . . There isn't much Myers can do to correct that situation.

The freshman team is scheduled to start training Monday . . . Several good-looking prospects will be on the frosh eleven which will run through the opponent's plays in scrimmages.

Pint-sized Charlie McCoy, who quarterbacked the informal teams during the war years, reported for action yesterday afternoon and his presence greatly increased the B. C. stock in the signal calling department. Tutored by none less than Eddie Doherty, dubbed "The Brain" for his knowledge of the intricacies of the T formation, McCoy will rank behind Ed Clasby and Steve Stuka for the time being but his field generalship is expected to move him into serious contention for the starting job that has been conceeded to Clasby.

Coin to Decide BU Starting FB

It may end with the tossing of a coin by "Buff" Donelli, bossman in the BU football camp at Nickerson Field, when it comes to decide who will get the call to start at the Terrier fullback position against Mohawk College of Upper New York, at Fenway Park, on the evening of the 27th, a Saturday.

For letterman Sil Cella of Revere is giving newcomer Gene Mancio, the West New York, N. J. boy, a whale of a battle for the only open spot in the Terrier backfield, the fullback slot.

Both boys have been alternating that position in the past Boston University scrimmages and both have shown fine talents. Cella is a rabid athlete who is always talking-it-up in the backfield as a shortstop on the diamond. He originally was a halfback where he won his first of two BU letters in 1942. Last season he was converted into a fullback by Walter Holmer and he did a bang-up job. He is a wirey boy of 165 pounds.

Mancino brings to Boston University an enviable record from his home town Memorial High School. He was All-State halfback for two successive years. He has an edge in the weight department over Cella as he tops the scales at 190. Mancino is a 19-year-old freshman who will go a long way with the Terriers.

So, Donelli has a headache, a good one at that, in making one of the two his starting fullback. Whoever it is, the other will see plenty of action in the fast-going Donelli Wing-T backfield.

The other three backfield spots appeared to be cinched by Johnny Toner, the 195-pound key man from Nantucket at quarterback. And on the wings, it will be halfbacks Capt. Don Giles, of Milton, and the Melrose pride and joy, Bobby Hatch, the triple-threat speedster.

B. U. Season Grid Tickets On Sale at Intown Office

The Boston University athletic office, at 117 Newbury st., announced that season tickets and reserved seats for the home games of "Buff" Donelli's Terriers, are now on sale at their office.

The Terriers open their eight-game schedule, all new opponents, with Mohawk College of Upper New York at Fenway Park, Saturday evening the 27th.

DETROIT TRACK SUSPENDS TRAINER

DETROIT, Sept. 11 (AP)—Trainer Karl Blank of New Orleans was suspended by stewards at the Detroit Fairgrounds racetrack after a report was received from the track's Chicago laboratory that saliva tests on Frank's Pal, Monday's fourth race winner, showed traces of a drug stimulant.

Blank had entered Mrs. J. B. Woodcock's Son Wolf and Feriair in yesterday's seventh race, but both were withdrawn.

The New Orleans trainer was scheduled to appear at a hearing before the stewards today.

Frank's Pal was claimed from Anthony Ferrara for $3000 by Blank last Thursday and in his first start under its new owner the three-year-old colt was winner by two lengths as a 1 to 1 shot. Ferrara reclaimed the horse and has entered him in today's fourth race.
